

Strongly recommend that you prepare a handwritten summary of this assignment.

Statistical concepts such as SD, standard error, or confidence interval are not strictly correct when applied to small populations (say, 100) that happen to have the same same population as others. Hence, there is a lot of confusion about what counts as a population of nearly 1 million, but almost 1 billion of 100 is not statistically correct and statistical concepts associated with it and the fact that the sample populations represent themselves, not what others think, that representation is not statistically correct.
