educational settings forever The study establishes that the only way Zimbabwe and other such post colonies could find redemption is by eradicating the sacredness of former colonisers languages by adding value to all their languages and the indigenous knowledge systems associated with them It also demonstrates that the bigger the delay the more is irretrievably lost together with custodians of the languages This book will be informative for undergraduates postgraduates and researchers in linguistics communication sociology anthropology and history It may also serve well as a resource to government researchers politicians and other policymakers illuminating Africanisms cultural retentions traceable to an African origin and cultural continuities ongoing practices and processes through which African culture continues to be created and formed Thus the focus is more culturally specific and less concerned with the broader transatlantic demographic political and geographic issues that are the focus of similar recent reference works We also focus less on biographies of individuals and political and economic ties and more on processes and manifestations of African cultural heritage and continuity

Power, Politics and the Emotions
Shona Hunter, 2015-06-05 How can we rethink ideas of policy failure to consider its paradoxes and contradictions as a starting point for more hopeful democratic encounters Offering a provocative and innovative theorisation of governance as relational politics the central argument of Power Politics and the Emotions is that there are sets of affective dynamics which complicate the already materially and symbolically contested terrain of policy making This relational politics is Shona Hunter's starting point for a more hopeful but realistic understanding of the limits and possibilities enacted through contemporary governing processes Through this idea Hunter prioritises the everyday lived enactments of policy as a means to understand the state as a more differentiated and changeable entity than is often allowed for in current critiques of neoliberalism But Hunter reminds us that focusing on lived realities demands a melancholic confrontation with pain and the risks of social and physical death and violence lived through the contemporary neoliberal state This is a state characterised by the ascendancy of neoliberal whiteness a state where no one is innocent and we are all responsible for the multiple intersecting exclusionary practices creating its unequal social orderings The only way to struggle through the central paradox of governance to produce something different is to accept this troubling interdependence between resistance and reproduction and between hope and loss Analysing the everyday processes of this relational politics through original empirical studies in health social care and education the book develops an innovative interdisciplinary theoretical synthesis which engages with and extends work in political science cultural theory critical race and feminist analysis critical psychoanalysis and post material sociology
