Newsom,2025-04-01 Of all the human behaviors anthropologists consider perhaps the most conceptually challenging are those that cannot be directly observed This volume draws from rich ethnographic data to offer theoretical and methodological tools for mapping the intersections between two such behaviors dreaming and imagination Although Western perspectives tend to cast these as personal experiences contained within individual minds each contributor explores diverse cultural and historical contexts to demonstrate how these behaviours are always in some sense cultural and influenced by social others The cross cultural approach suggests theoretical flexibility and expands the study of imagination across multiple disciplines     White Zombie Gary D. Hartnell,2017-01-25 Through the lens provided by the tenth anniversary of Hurricane Katrina After Katrina argues that the city of New Orleans emerges as a key site for exploring competing narratives of US decline and renewal at the beginning of the twenty first century Deploying an interdisciplinary approach to explore cultural representations of the post storm city Anna Hartnell suggests that New Orleans has been reimagined as a laboratory for a racialized neoliberalism and as such might be seen as a terminus of the American dream This US disaster zone has unveiled a network of social and environmental crises that demonstrate that prospects of social mobility have dwindled as environmental degradation and coastal erosion emerge as major threats not just to the quality of life but to the possibility of life in coastal communities across America and the world And yet After Katrina also suggests that New Orleans culture offers a way of thinking about the United States in terms that transcend the binary of national renewal or declension The post Hurricane city thus emerges as a flashpoint for reflecting on the contemporary United States      Encyclopedia of Weird Westerns Paul
