Versus Perception invites students on a philosophical exploration of the themes of truth and perception. Lessons include a major emphasis on rigorous evidence based discourse through the study of common themes and content rich challenging informational and fictional texts. This unit developed by Vanderbilt University's Programs for Talented Youth and aligned to the Common Core State Standards CCSS applies concepts from Plato's Allegory of the Cave to guide students to discover how reality is presented and interpreted in fiction, nonfiction, art, and media. Students engage in activities such as Socratic seminars, literary analyses, skits, and art projects and creative writing to understand differing perceptions of reality. Lessons include close readings with text dependent questions, choice based differentiated products, rubrics, formative assessments, and ELA tasks that require students to analyze texts for rhetorical features, literary elements, and themes through argument, explanatory, and prose constructed writing. Ideal for pre AP and honors courses, the unit features art from M.C. Escher and Vincent Van Gogh, short stories from Guy de Maupassant and Shirley Jackson, longer texts by Daniel Keyes and Ray Bradbury, and informational texts related to sociology, Nazi propaganda, and Christopher Columbus. This unit encourages students to translate learning to real life contexts and problems by exploring themes of disillusionment, social deception, and the power of perception. Grades 6-8

Teaching History with Big Ideas S. G. Grant, Jill M. Gradwell, 2010-07-16. In the case studies that make up the bulk of this book, middle and high school history teachers describe the decisions and plans and the problems and possibilities they encountered as they ratcheted up their instruction through the use of big ideas. Framing a teaching unit around a question such as "Why don't we know anything about Africa?" offers both teacher and students opportunities to explore historical actors' ideas and events in ways both rich and engaging. Such an approach exemplifies the construct of ambitious teaching whereby teachers demonstrate their ability to marry their deep knowledge of subject matter, students, and the school context in ways that fundamentally challenge the claim that history is boring.
