

When the children come in:

When children come in, they will be quite nervous and will need to see a big smiling face. It is a good idea to get down to the children's level as much as possible when welcoming them. You might want

Transition Day Plan – Mixed Reception/Year 1

The most important objective on transition day is to help the children settle by building relationships with them and letting them get to know the classroom and outdoor area.

Setting Up:

It is a good idea to set up some activities based on your knowledge of the children's interests. If parents have completed a settling in form or you have visited the nurseries, you will have some ideas.

Activity ideas to set up in the environment aimed at Reception children to play:

Activity ideas to set up in the environment aimed at Reception children to play:

Water with bottles, pipes, cups, funnels etc.	Have a quiet cornered space for children to go to if they are feeling overwhelmed. Perhaps add some books and cushions.

Clear as Mud Robert B. Olshansky,Laurie Johnson,2017-11-08 Planning the rebuilding of New Orleans after Hurricanes Katrina and Rita has been among the greatest urban planning challenges of our time Since 2005 Robert B Olshansky and Laurie A Johnson urban planners who specialize in disaster planning and recovery have been working to understand in real time the difficult planning decisions in this unusual situation As both observers of and participants in the difficult process of creating the Unified New Orleans Plan Olshansky and Johnson bring unparalleled detail and insight to this complex story The recovery process has been slow and frustrating in part because New Orleans was so unprepared for the physical challenges of such a disaster but also because it lacked sufficient planning mechanisms to manage community reconstruction in a viable way New Orleans has had to rebuild its buildings and institutions but it has also had to create a community planning structure that is seen as both equitable and effective while also addressing the concerns and demands of state federal nonprofit and private sector stakeholders In documenting how this unprecedented process occurred Olshansky and Johnson spent years on the ground in New Orleans interviewing leaders and citizens and abetting the design and execution of the Unified New Orleans Plan Their insights will help cities across the globe recognize the challenges of rebuilding and recovering after disaster strikes
