Mark Ramseyer,Jason M. Morgan,2024-01-23 During World War II the Japanese military extended Japan s civilian licensing regime for domestic brothels to those next to its overseas bases It did so for a simple reason to impose the strenuous health standards necessary to control the venereal disease that had debilitated its troops in earlier wars In turn these brothels dubbed comfort stations recruited prostitutes through variations on the standard indenture contracts used by licensed brothels in both Korea and Japan The party line in Western academia though is that these comfort women were dragooned into sex slavery at bayonet point by Japanese infantry But as the authors of this book show that narrative originated as a hoax perpetrated by a Japanese communist writer in the 1980s It was then spread by a South Korean organization with close ties to the Communist North Ramseyer and Morgan discuss how these women really came to be in Japanese military comfort stations Some took the jobs because they were tricked by fraudulent recruiters Some were under pressure from abusive parents But the rest of the women seem to have been driven by the same motivation as most prostitutes throughout history want of money Indeed the notion that these comfort women became prostitutes by any other means has no basis in documentary history Serious intellectuals of all political perspectives in both South Korea and Japan have understood this for years Ramseyer and Morgan s findings caused a firestorm in Japanese Studies academia For explaining that the women became prostitutes of their own volition both authors of this book found themselves cancelled In this book the authors detail both the history of the comfort women and their own persecution by academic peers Only in the West and only through brutal stratagems of censorship and ostracism has the myth of bayonet point conscription survived World Histories from Below Antoinette Burton,Tony Ballantyne,2022-02-10 History has traditionally privileged elites and their accomplishments World Histories from Below provides an antidote placing ordinary people and subordinated subjects at the heart of the themes it explores Arguing that disruption and dissent are overlooked agents of historical change it takes a global view of topics including political revolution religious conversion labour struggles and body politics This 2nd edition includes two additional chapters on indigenous peoples migration and environmental histories from below With an updated preface this enhanced text also includes additional images and case studies to grapple with themes that have more recently come to the fore such as populism and the environment Offering a study of these themes from 1750 to the present day World Histories from Below refocuses our entire approach to teaching world history

Korean "Comfort Women" Pyong Gap Min, 2021-03-26 Arguably the most brutal crime committed by the Japanese military during the Asia Pacific war was the forced mobilization of 50,000 to 200,000 Asian women to military brothels to sexually serve Japanese soldiers The majority of these women died unable to survive the ordeal Those survivors who came back home kept silent about their brutal experiences for about fifty years In the late 1980s the women's movement in South Korea helped start the redress movement for the victims encouraging many survivors to come forward to tell what happened to them With these testimonies the redress movement gained strong support from the UN the United States and other Western countries Korean Comfort Women synthesizes the previous major findings about Japanese military sexual slavery and legal recommendations and provides new findings about the issues comfort women faced for an English language audience It also examines the transnational redress movement revealing that the Japanese government has tried to conceal the crime of sexual slavery and to resolve the women's human rights issue with diplomacy and economic power
