Trafficking Of Persons Report:

Trafficking in Persons Report (10th Ed.) ,2010-11 Ten years ago the U N and the U S enacted laws and treaties against human trafficking Since then the international community has witnessed tangible progress in the effort to end the scourge of trafficking in persons Countries that once denied the existence of human trafficking now work to identify victims and help them overcome the trauma of modern slavery as well as hold responsible those who enslave others This Report outlines the continuing challenges across the globe It highlights several key trends including the suffering of women and children in involuntary domestic servitude the challenges and successes in identifying and protecting victims and the need to include anti trafficking policies in our response to natural disasters Illus Trafficking in Persons Report ,2003 Trafficking in Persons Report ,2011 The Department of State is required by law to submit each year to the U S Congress a report on foreign governments efforts to eliminate severe forms of trafficking in persons This is the 11th annual TIP Report it seeks to increase global awareness of the human trafficking phenomenon by shedding new light on various facets of the problem and highlighting shared and individual efforts of the international community and to encourage foreign governments to take effective action against all forms of trafficking in persons The United States Trafficking Victims Protection Act of 2000 TVPA as amended guides efforts to combat human trafficking The purpose of the law is to punish traffickers protect victims and prevent trafficking from occurring Freeing victims from this form of modern day slavery is the ultimate goal of this report and of the U S Government s anti human trafficking policy The TVPA outlines minimum standards for the elimination of trafficking in persons Countries that do not make significant efforts to comply with the minimum standards receive a Tier 3 ranking in this report Trafficking in Persons Report 2020 United States Department of State,2020-06-17 Human trafficking became a topic of public concern in the 1990s due in part to the fall of the former Soviet Union the resulting migration flows and the increasing concern about the growth of transnational criminal organizations operating globally Intelligence reports pointed to sex trafficking and forms of forced labor as some of these organizations largest sources of profit The first efforts to address trafficking in persons focused heavily on combating the sex trafficking of women and girls Academic reports and news articles illustrated the effect traffickers were having on individuals and communities around the world In 1994 the Department of State began to monitor human trafficking as part of the Department s Annual Country Reports on Human Rights Practices focusing exclusively on sex trafficking of women and girls As the understanding of human trafficking expanded the U S government in collaboration with NGOs identified the need for specific legislation to address how traffickers operate and to provide the legal tools necessary to combat trafficking in persons in all its forms This year marks a major milestone the 20th anniversary of the TIP Report Twenty years ago when the United States Congress passed the TVPA mandating this report it signaled the U S government s resolve to fight human trafficking and marked a pivot from indignation to positive action Whether used to raise awareness spark dialogue spur action or create a system of accountability the TIP Report has served to reinforce global anti trafficking norms and ideals At a time when many governments denied the existence of human trafficking in all its forms the TIP Report became a standard bearer for the principles enshrined in the TVPA and the UN Trafficking in Persons Protocol Palermo Protocol Throughout the last two decades and as the availability of information on human trafficking has expanded the TIP Report has grown in both its breadth and depth of analysis It has consistently documented the efforts of an increasing number of governments to prosecute traffickers protect victims and prevent human trafficking crimes The report has drawn attention to trends and emerging issues highlighted promising practices and tracked the progression of important developments such as the passage of comprehensive anti trafficking laws and improvements in victim identification efforts Over the years the methodology content and design of the TIP Report have evolved reflecting in many ways the broader anti trafficking movement s progress in understanding the crime The message at the heart of each edition however has been steadfast there is no excuse for human trafficking and governments must address it with bold action Most of all the TIP Report has been and continues to be a critical tool in bringing governments to the table and encouraging them to prioritize human trafficking Diplomats and advocates apply pressure on governments around the world to ensure they maintain focus and hear the voices of those directly affected Today the vast majority of governments acknowledge the devastating effects of human trafficking and most governments have taken steps to combat it The introduction this year will provide a look back at the evolution of the TIP Report It is a celebration of 20 years documenting progress in combating human trafficking and as always a candid reminder of the work yet to be done Annual Report United States.
