Henty, 2015-07-01 Ralph Bathurst overcomes his fears and with the help of Rujub rescues the girl with whom he has fallen in love from a wicked Rajah The setting is an English community struggling to escape death during the Indian Mutiny Rujub, the Juggler George Alfred Henty, 1915 Rujub, the Juggler G. A. (George Alfred) Henty, 2018 Rujub the Juggler by G A George Alfred Henty is a rare manuscript the original residing in some of the great libraries of the world This book is a reproduction of that original typed out and formatted to perfection allowing new generations to enjoy the work Publishers of the Valley s mission is to bring long out of print manuscripts back to life Rujub, the Juggler George Alfred Henty, 2015-11-16 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work was reproduced from the original artifact and remains as true to the original work as possible Therefore you will see the original copyright references library stamps as most of these works have been housed in our most important libraries around the world and other notations in the work This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work As a reproduction of a historical artifact this work may contain missing or blurred pages poor pictures errant marks etc Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant Rujub, the Juggler (Classic Reprint) George a Henty, 2015-07-12 Excerpt from Rujub the Juggler Sir Colin Campbell followed and soon the city was once more in the complete possession of the British Oude was speedily reduced to submission many of the rebel leaders were either shot or hanged and gradually the mutiny which had cost the lives of thousands was brought to an end The tale however is not all of war In its pages are given many true to life pictures of life in India in the barracks of the soldiers and elsewhere A most important part is played by Rujub the juggler who is a warm friend to the hero of the narrative Rujub is no common conjuror but one of the higher men of mystery who perform partly as a religious duty and who accept no pay for such performances The acts of these persons are but little understood even at this late day and it is possible that many of their arts will sooner or later be utterly lost to the world at large That they can do some wonderful things in juggling mind reading and in second sight is testified to by thousands of people who have witnessed their performances in India how they do these things has never yet been explained Strange as it may seem the hero of the tale is a natural born coward who cannot stand the noise of gunfire He realizes his shortcomings and they are frequently brought home to him through the taunts of his fellow soldiers A doctor proves that the dread of noise is hereditary but this only adds to the young soldier s misery To make himself brave he rushes to the front in a most desperate fight and engages in scout work which means almost certain death In the end he masters his fear and gives a practical lesson of what stern and unbending will power can accomplish In many respects Rujub the Juggler will be found one of the strongest of Ur Henty's works and this is saying much when one considers all of the many stories this well known author has already penned for the entertainment of young and old As a picture of life in the English Army in India it is unexcelled About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

Rujub, The Juggler George Henty, 2020-03-21 It would be difficult to find a fairer scene Throughout the gardens lanterns of many shapes and devices threw their light down upon the paths which were marked out by lines of little lamps suspended on wires a foot above the ground In a treble row they encircled a large tank or pond and studded a little island in its center Along the terraces were festoons and arches of innumerable lamps while behind was the Palace or Castle for it was called either the Oriental doors and windows and the tracery of its walls lit up below by the soft light while the outline of the upper part could scarce be made out Eastern as the scene was the actors were for the most part English Although the crowd that promenaded the terrace was composed principally of men of whom the majority were in uniform of one sort or another the rest in evening dress there were many ladies among them At the end of one of the terraces a band of the 103d Bengal Infantry was playing and when they ceased a band of native musicians at the opposite end of the terrace took up the strains Within the palace was brilliantly lighted and at the tables in one of the large apartments a few couples were still seated at supper Among his guests moved the Rajah chatting in fluent English laughing with the men paying compliments to the ladies a thoroughly good fellow all round as his guests agreed The affair had been a great success There had first been a banquet to the officers and civilians at the neighboring station When this was over the ladies began to arrive and for their amusement there had been a native nautch upon a grand scale followed by a fine display of fireworks and then by supper at which the Rajah had made a speech expressive of his deep admiration and affection for the British This he had followed up by proposing the health of the ladies in flowery terms gardens lanterns of many shapes and devices threw their light down upon the paths which were marked out by lines of little lamps suspended on wires a foot above the ground In a treble row they encircled a large tank or pond and studded a little island in its center Along the terraces were festoons and arches of innumerable lamps while behind was the Palace or Castle for it was called either the Oriental doors and windows and the tracery of its walls lit up below by the soft light while the outline of the upper part could scarce be made out Eastern as the scene was the actors were for the most part English Although the crowd that promenaded the terrace was composed principally of men of whom the majority were in uniform of one sort or another the rest in evening dress there were many ladies among them At the end of one of the terraces a band of the 103d Bengal Infantry was playing and when they ceased a band of native musicians at the opposite end of the terrace took up the strains Within the palace was brilliantly lighted and at the tables in one of the large apartments a few couples were still seated at supper Among his guests moved the Rajah chatting in fluent English laughing with the men paying compliments to the ladies a thoroughly good fellow all round as his guests agreed The affair had been a great success There had first been a banquet to the officers and civilians at the neighboring station When this was over the ladies began to arrive and for their amusement there had been a native nautch upon a grand scale followed by a fine display of fireworks and then by supper at which the Rajah had made a speech expressive of his deep admiration and affection for the British This he had followed up by proposing the health of the ladies in flowery terms Never was there a better fellow than the Rajah He had English tastes and often dined at one or other of the officers messes He was a good shot and could fairly hold his own at billiards He had first rate English horses in his stables and his turnout was perfect in all respects He kept a few horses for the races and was present at every ball and entertainment At Bithoor he kept almost open house There was a billiard room and racquet courts and once or twice a week there were luncheon parties at which from twelve to twenty officers were generally present In all India there was no Rajah with more pronounced English tastes or greater affection for English people The one regret of his life he often declared was that his color and his religion prevented his entertaining the hope of obtaining an English wife All this as everyone said was the more remarkable and praiseworthy inasmuch as he had good grounds of complaint against the British Government With the ladies he was an especial favorite he was always ready to show them courtesy His carriages were at their service He was ready to give his aid and assistance to every gathering His private band played frequently on the promenade and handsome presents of shawls and jewelry were often made to those whom he held in highest favor At present he was talking to General Wheeler and some other officers I warn you that I mean to win the cup at the races he said I have just bought the horse that swept the board on the Bombay side I have set my heart on winning the cup and so secured this horse I am ready to back it if any of you gentlemen are disposed to wager against it All in good time Rajah one of the officers laughed we don't know what will be entered against it yet and we must wait to see what the betting is but I doubt whether we have anything that will beat the Bombay crack on this side I fancy you will have to lay odds on We shall see the Rajah said I have always been unlucky but I mean to win this time Rujub, the Juggler G a 1832-1902 Henty,2016-05-09 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work was reproduced from the original artifact and remains as true to the original work as possible Therefore you will see the original copyright references library stamps as most of these works have been housed in our most important libraries around the world and other notations in the work This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work As a reproduction of a historical artifact this work may contain missing or blurred pages poor pictures errant marks etc Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant Rujub, The Juggler George Alfred Henty,2020-03-07 It would be difficult to find a fairer scene Throughout the gardens lanterns of many shapes and devices threw their light down upon the paths which were marked out by lines of little lamps suspended on wires a foot above the ground In a treble row they encircled a large tank or pond and studded a little island in its center Along the terraces were festoons and arches of innumerable lamps while behind was the Palace or Castle for it was called either the Oriental doors and windows and the tracery of its walls lit up below by the soft light while the outline of the upper part could scarce be made out Eastern as the scene was the actors were for the most part English Although the crowd that promenaded the terrace was composed principally of men of whom the majority were in uniform of one sort or another the rest in evening dress there were many ladies among them At the end of one of the terraces a band of the 103d Bengal Infantry was playing and when they ceased a band of native musicians at the opposite end of the terrace took up the strains Within the palace was brilliantly lighted and at the tables in one of the large apartments a few couples were still seated at supper Among his guests moved the Rajah chatting in fluent English laughing with the men paying compliments to the ladies a thoroughly good fellow all round as his guests agreed The affair had been a great success There had first been a banquet to the officers and civilians at the neighboring station When this was over the ladies began to arrive and for their amusement there had been a native nautch upon a grand scale followed by a fine display of fireworks and then by supper at which the Rajah had made a speech expressive of his deep admiration and affection for the British This he had followed up by proposing the health of the ladies in flowery terms Never was there a better fellow than the Rajah He had English tastes and often dined at one or other of the officers messes He was a good shot and could fairly hold his own at billiards He had first rate English horses in his stables and his turnout was perfect in all respects He kept a few horses for the races and was present at every ball and entertainment At Bithoor he kept almost open house There was a billiard room and racquet courts and once or twice a week there were luncheon parties at which from twelve to twenty officers were generally present In all India there was no Rajah with more pronounced English tastes or greater affection for English people The one regret of his life he often declared was that his color and his religion prevented his entertaining the hope of obtaining an English wife All this as everyone said was the more remarkable and praiseworthy inasmuch as he had good grounds of complaint against the British Government Rujub, the Juggler, by G.
