Demographic	Conditional on the inclusion of demographic variables in the model	These are average values of the variables (control variables) in the demographic model
Education	None or all	Control variables only
Income for all years	Conditional on the inclusion of income for all years in the model	These are average values of the variables (control variables) in the income model
Control the group factor	Include the regression (or, fixed effects) controls	These are group-specific intercepts

Values were used based on the regression, where $\alpha = 0.05$, except for those with $p < 0.001$ as the association in the other half of the population.

1. Journal of the American Medical Association, 2000; 283: 2689-2695.

- Operate with the most comprehensive representation of the population, which currently is 200,000. This enabled us to find representative, truly representative, more homogeneous
- "Represented" the population by making randomizations, sampling locations, characteristics and other easily identifiable variables.
- Represented the population using statistical information.
- Represented the "population" in terms of the process in which it was formed.
