African Languages in Classrooms and Academia: Intellectualisation and Empowerment through Formal Education Xolisa Tshongolo, 2024-12-02 To date there have been few comprehensive books published which deal specifically with the role of African languages in academia and formal education Motinyane Mletshe and Tshongolo as editors have produced a book that fills this gap In this timely collection of 21 chapters written in African languages and English the contributors offer a critique of both language practice in the classroom as well as language planning policy creation and implementation challenges A timely and innovative contribution in the area of language in education teaching pedagogy as well as multilingualism You're More Powerful than You Think Eric Liu, 2017-03-28 Is this the America you want If not here's how to claim the power to change your country We are in an age of epic political turbulence in America Old hierarchies and institutions are collapsing From the election of Donald Trump to the upending of the major political parties to the spread of grassroots movements like Black Lives Matter and 15 Now people across the country and across the political spectrum are reclaiming power Are you ready for this age of bottom up citizen power Do you understand what power truly is how it flows who has it and how you can claim and exercise it Eric Liu who has spent a career practicing and teaching civic power lays out the answers in this incisive inspiring and provocative book Using examples from the left and the right past and present he reveals the core laws of power He shows that all of us can generate power and then step by step he shows us how The strategies of reform and revolution he lays out will help every reader make sense of our world today If you want to be more than a spectator in this new era you need to read this book New Frontiers in Forensic Linguistics Monwabisi Ralarala, Russell Kaschula, Georgina Heydon, 2019-06-25 The field of forensic linguistics is a niche area that has not enjoyed much participation from the African continent The theme of language and the law in this book is one that straddles two important aspects of the legal history of South Africa in particular and how it has impacted on the country's legal and education systems. The declaration by the United Nations of 2019 as The International Year of Indigenous Languages is opportune not only for the launch of this book but for what its research content tells us of the strides taken in ensuring access to justice for all citizens of the world in a language they understand. The contributions by authors in this book tell the story of many African citizens and those hailing from beyond our borders who straddle the challenges of linguistic and legal pluralism in courtrooms across their respective countries. It is our hope that the contributions made in this book will assist in ensuring human rights become a reality for global citizens where indigenous voices have not been heard and that these citizens will be free to give their testimonies in a language of their choice and that they may be heard and understood.

The United Nations Commission on Human Rights John P. Pace, 2020-07-10 In this book John P. Pace provides the most complete account to date of the United Nations human rights programme both in substance and in chronological breadth. Pace worked at the heart of this programme for over thirty years including as the Secretary of the Commission on Human Rights and Coordinator of the World Conference on Human Rights which took place in Vienna in 1993. He traces the issues taken up by the Commission after its launch in 1946 and the methods undertaken to enhance absorption and domestication of international human rights standards. He lays out the special procedures carried out by the UN and the emergence of international human rights law. The book then turns to the establishment of the Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights and the mainstreaming of human rights across the United Nations system eventually leading to the establishment of the Human Rights Council to replace the Commission in 2006. Many of the problems we face today including conflict, poverty and environmental issues have their roots in human rights problems. This book identifies what has been done at the international level in the past and points towards what still needs to be done for the future.

Detention and Its Alternatives Under International Law Lorna McGregor, 2024-02-08 The book analyses the current state of international law on detention and its alternatives across national laws and policies. It identifies critiques stemming from the perception that international law prioritises procedural safeguards leaving substantive legitimacy, necessity and proportionality of detention and its alternatives underdeveloped.

Joyous Resilience Anjuli Sherin, 2021-01-26 An intersectional guide to building resilience and reclaiming joy. With so much information available on how to build resilience from meditation, exercise and time in nature to the latest neuroscience-backed studies, have you ever wondered what's holding you back? If you commit to self-care but find yourself exhausted, unhappy or anxious, do you wonder what's missing? The fact is we are all navigating an exhausting, disconnecting, do more buy more culture that disproportionately harms those with marginalized identities and leads us to believe that our thriving depends solely on individual effort. Mainstream wellness culture doesn't account for the ways that social oppression and economic injustice intersect to make resilience difficult for many of us to access in the first place. So where do we begin? In this warm and accessible guide, Pakistani American therapist Anjuli Sherin provides a healing path to make thriving possible for everyone.

Through compelling client stories and reflective exercises she offers a culturally informed body centered model that shows us how cultivating self nurturance healthy boundaries pleasure and a soulful connection to the natural world can give us the generative energy needed to heal individual and collective trauma and shape our world from an inner magic called joyous resilience Imagining the Futures of Higher Education in Southern Africa Vicky Avinash Oojorah, Waaiza
