Reflections on 21st Century Human Habitats in India Mahabir S. Jaglan, Rajeshwari, 2021-07-31 This book highlights various dimensions of human habitats in 21st Century India The human habitats in the country are marked by perceptible inequality in social and economic spheres This is occurring in tandem with rapid socio economic transformation across both rural and urban landscapes There is a plurality of transformative characteristics in terms of social and economic classes gender and space Inequality in access to natural resources such as land and water is still a big factor in socio economic differentiation in rural habitats This constructs a pedestal of unequal opportunities and access to basic human necessities such as healthcare education potable water and sanitation Human habitats experiencing socio spatial segregation and exclusion based on caste community and gender are detrimental in formation of a civil society and its sustainability in long terms The ideal situation for this would be formation of an inclusive society that celebrates age old socio cultural diversities reduces inequalities and reveres composite culture

Bacteria to AI N. Katherine Hayles, 2025-02-12 A new theory of mind that includes nonhuman and artificial intelligences The much lauded superiority of human intelligence has not prevented us from driving the planet into ecological disaster For N Katherine Hayles the climate crisis demands that we rethink basic assumptions about human and nonhuman intelligences In Bacteria to AI Hayles develops a new theory of mind what she calls an integrated cognitive framework ICF that includes the meaning making practices of lifeforms from bacteria to plants animals humans and some forms of artificial intelligence Through a sweeping survey of evolutionary biology computer science and contemporary literature Hayles insists that another way of life with ICF at its core is not only possible but necessary to safeguard our planet's future

Parental Imprisonment and Children's Rights Fiona Donson, Aisling Parkes, 2021-03-30 This book brings together internationally renowned academics and professionals from a variety of disciplines who in a variety of ways seek to understand the legal conceptual and practical consequences of parental imprisonment through a children's rights lens Children whose parents have been incarcerated are often referred to as invisible victims of crime and the penal system It is well accepted that the imprisonment of a parent even for a short period of time not only negatively affects the lives of children but it can also result in a gross violation of their fundamental human rights such as the right of access to their parent and the right to have an input into decision making processes affecting them the outcomes of which will without doubt affect the life of the child concerned This collection foregrounds the voice of these children as it explores transdisciplinary boundaries and examines the practice and development of the rights of both children and their families within the wider dynamic of criminal justice and penology practice The text is divided into three parts which are dedicated to 1 hearing the voices of children with parents in prison 2 understanding to what extent children's rights informs prison policy and 3 demonstrating how law in the form of children's rights can help frame both court sentencing and prison practice in a way that minimises the harm that contact with the prison system can cause The research drawn upon in this book has been conducted in a number of European countries and demonstrates both good and bad practice as far as the implementation of children's rights is concerned in the context of parental incarceration An accessible and compelling read this book will appeal to students and scholars of law children's rights criminology sociology social work psychology penology and all those interested in and working towards protecting the rights of children who have a parent in prison
