Freedom's Laboratory Audra J. Wolfe, 2020-08-04 The Cold War ended long ago but the language of science and freedom continues to shape public debates over the relationship between science and politics in the United States Scientists like to proclaim that science knows no borders Scientific researchers follow the evidence where it leads their conclusions free of prejudice or ideology But is that really the case In Freedom's Laboratory Audra J Wolfe shows how these ideas were tested to their limits in the high stakes propaganda battles of the Cold War Wolfe examines the role that scientists in concert with administrators and policymakers played in American cultural diplomacy after World War II During this period the engines of US propaganda promoted a vision of science that highlighted empiricism objectivity a commitment to pure research and internationalism Working both overtly and covertly wittingly and unwittingly with governmental and private organizations scientists attempted to decide what exactly they meant when they referred to scientific freedom or the US ideology More frequently however they defined American science merely as the opposite of Communist science Uncovering many startling episodes of the close relationship between the US government and private scientific groups Freedom's Laboratory is the first work to explore science's link to US propaganda and psychological warfare campaigns during the Cold War Closing in the present day with a discussion of the 2017 March for Science and the prospects for science and science diplomacy in the Trump era the book demonstrates the continued hold of Cold War thinking on ideas about science and politics in the United States

Technological Innovation in Legacy Sectors William B. Bonvillian, Charles Weiss, 2015-08-18 The American economy faces two deep problems expanding innovation and raising the rate of quality job creation Both have roots in a neglected problem the resistance of Legacy economic sectors to innovation While the U S has focused its policies on breakthrough innovations to create new economic frontiers like information technology and biotechnology most of its economy is locked into Legacy sectors defended by technological economic political social paradigms that block competition from disruptive innovations that could challenge their models Americans like to build technology covered wagons and take them out west to open new innovation frontiers we don't head our wagons back east to bring innovation to our Legacy sectors By failing to do so the economy misses a major opportunity for innovation which is the bedrock of U S competitiveness and its standard of living Technological Innovation in Legacy Sectors uses a new unifying conceptual framework to identify the shared features underlying structural obstacles to innovation in major Legacy sectors energy air and auto transport the electric power grid buildings manufacturing agriculture health care delivery and higher education and develops approaches to understand and transform them It finds both strengths and obstacles to innovation in the national innovation environments a new concept that combines the innovation system and the broader innovation context for a group of Asian and European economies Manufacturing is a major Legacy sector that presents a particular challenge because it is a critical stage in the innovation process By increasingly offshoring production the U S is losing important parts of its innovation capacity Innovate here produce here where the U S took all the gains of its strong innovation system at every stage is being replaced by innovate here produce there which threatens to lead to produce there innovate there To bring innovation to Legacy sectors authors William Bonvillian and Charles Weiss recommend that policymakers focus on all stages of innovation from research through implementation They should fill institutional gaps in the innovation system and take measures to address structural obstacles to needed disruptive innovations In the specific case of advanced manufacturing the production ecosystem can be recreated to reverse jobless innovation and add manufacturing led innovation to the U S s still strong research oriented innovation system Early Childhood Studies Jane Johnston,Lindy Nahmad-Williams,Ruby
