BOILING HEAT TRANSFER WITH LIQUID METALS. ROBERT EVANS LYON, 1953 Boiling heat transfer coefficients were measured for mercury mercury plus 0 1 percent sodium sodium potassium alloy and cadmium at temperatures from 670 to 1600 F and atmospheric pressure The temperature differences were measured by thermocouples in the tube wall and in the bulk of the boiling liquid The highest coefficients were for sodium and sodium potassium alloys up to 15 000 BTU per hr F sq ft The combination of low coefficients with pure mercury and the high coefficients with addition agents are interpreted as film and nucleate boiling respectively It follows that film boiling may be more the result of non wetting characteristics of the surface than of heat flux or quantity of vapor evolved Specifications and Drawings of Patents Issued from the United States Patent Office United States.
