success of military operations depends to a large extent on the physical and mental status of the individuals involved Appropriate nutrition during assault missions is a continuous challenge mainly due to diminished appetites of individuals under stress Many less controllable and unpredictable factors such as individual preferences and climate come into play to reduce appetite In fact soldiers usually consume about half of the calories needed leaving them in a state called negative energy balance The consequences of being in negative energy balance while under these circumstances range from weight loss to fatigue to mental impairments An individual s physiological and nutritional status can markedly affect one s ability to
