Eilish McLoughlin, Odilla E. Finlayson, Sibel Erduran, Peter E. Childs, 2019-08-27 This edited volume presents innovative current research in the field of Science Education The chapters deal with a wide variety of topics and research approaches conducted in a range of contexts and settings Together they make a strong contribution to knowledge on science teaching and learning The book consists of selected presentations from the 12th European Science Education Research Association ESERA Conference held in Dublin Ireland from 21st to 25th August 2017 The ESERA community is made up of professionals with diverse disciplinary backgrounds from natural sciences to social sciences This diversity enables a rich understanding of cognitive and affective aspects of science teaching and learning The studies in this book will stimulate discussion and interest in finding new ways of implementing and researching science education for the future The twenty two chapters in this book are presented in four parts highlighting innovative approaches to school science emerging identities in science education approaches to developing learning and competence progressions and ways of enhancing science teacher education This collection of studies showcases current research orientations in science education and is of interest to science teachers teacher educators and science education researchers around the world with a commitment to bridging research and practice in science teaching and learning      Transactions on Engineering Technologies Gi-Chul Yang, Sio-Long Ao, Xu

Huang, Oscar Castillo, 2014-12-30 This volume contains revised and extended research articles written by prominent researchers who participated in the international conference on Advances in Engineering Technologies which was held in Hong Kong 12-14 March 2014 Topics covered include engineering physics engineering mathematics scientific computing control theory artificial intelligence electrical engineering communications systems and industrial applications The book offers the state of art of tremendous advances in engineering technologies and physical science and applications and also serves as an excellent reference work for researchers and graduate students working with on engineering technologies and physical science and applications      Human Motor Development Greg Payne, Larry Isaacs, 2020-05-21 Human Motor

Development A Lifespan Approach 10th Edition offers an overview to the study of changes in human movement across the lifespan The book uses a holistic approach and emphasizes the importance of intellectual social and physical development and their impact on human motor development at all ages The tenth edition has been completely revised and updated to reflect the most recent research and technology in human motor development Organized into five parts the book examines key topics in motor development including the relationship between cognitive and social development and motor development factors affecting development changes across the lifespan and assessment in motor development Highly illustrated and written for student accessibility Human Motor Development A Lifespan Approach is essential reading for students of motor control and development kinesiology human performance and students interested in physical therapy physical education and exercise science The book also provides access to a fully updated companion website which includes laboratory exercises an instructors manual a test bank and lecture slides      Maximizing the Impacts of Academic Research Patrick Dunleavy, Jane Tinkler, 2020-10-10 This is an invaluable guide to better research communication within and beyond academia With many years of research experience the authors provide scholars and scientists with systematic advice on how to ensure their research reaches its potential and grows the recognition influence practical application and public understanding of science and scholarship It begins by examining how citations work and evaluating the different measures of academic influence from legacy bibliometric systems to altmetrics and digital metrics Subsequent chapters show readers how to craft impactful journal articles work effectively with co authors create a portfolio of publications and build a digital strategy that promotes knowledge exchange Checklists help readers decide how and in what format to publish enabling them to get their research in front of the right people Throughout the authors illustrate impact with data drawn from a wide range of disciplines Maximizing the Impacts of Academic Research is ideal for PhD students and early career researchers taking their first steps into academic research experienced researchers mentoring the next generation of scholars and scientists and established academics looking to systematically review and upgrade their existing impact practices      Design, User Experience, and Usability: Design Discourse Aaron Marcus, 2015-07-20 The three volume set LNCS 9186 9187 and 9188 constitutes the proceedings of the 4th International Conference on Design User Experience and Usability DUXU 2015 held as part of the 17th International Conference on Human Computer Interaction HCII 2015 in Los Angeles CA USA in August 2015 jointly with 13 other thematically similar conferences The total of 1462 papers and 246 posters presented at the HCII 2015 conferences were carefully reviewed and selected from 4843 submissions These papers address the latest research and development efforts and highlight the human aspects of design and use of computing systems The papers accepted for presentation thoroughly cover the entire field of Human Computer Interaction addressing major advances in knowledge and effective use of computers in a variety of application areas The total of 132 contributions included in the DUXU proceedings were carefully reviewed and selected for inclusion in this three volume set The 61 papers included in this volume are organized in topical sections on design thinking user experience design and usability methods and tools DUXU management and practice emotional and persuasion design and storytelling narrative and fiction in DUXU      Mechanisms underlying firing in healthy and sick human motoneurons Parveen N.S. Bawa, Maria Piotrkiewicz, Annie Schmied, 2015-07-08 Since the latter half of the twentieth century an enormous amount of knowledge about mammalian motoneuron pools has been collected This progress was enabled mostly by the development of the precise techniques of intracellular recordings in acute animal experiments many of which were conducted under deep anaesthesia Recently obtained evidence indicates that anaesthetics used at that times changed certain properties of the cell membrane which might affect firing of the neuron Experiments on normal humans gets around this problem which lets one compare MN firing characteristics in humans and reduced preparations Firing pattern of human motoneurons is obtained indirectly by recording from a few muscle fibres of a motor unit Since there is one to one relationship between motor unit and motoneuron firing the statistical analysis of motor unit firing is equivalent to the analysis of motoneuron firing This analysis based on the essential knowledge about motoneuron physiology gained from the direct measurements in animal experiments and verified by computer simulations allows one to draw conclusions about the physiological properties of human motoneurons For obvious reasons the deductions made on properties of human motoneuron from these analyses should be accepted with caution On the other hand human experiments provide the unique opportunity to study intact motoneurons during normal physiological behavior Thus combining information obtained from animal and human experiments and computer simulations gives insight into underexplored problems of motor control This E book contains a collection of articles with range of exciting findings on the physiology and pathology of human motoneurons The collection covers such important issues concerning firing of healthy motoneurons as recruitment and rate coding as well as motoneuron excitability discusses intrinsic motoneuron properties disclosed by studying double discharges and provides information on broad spectrum of motoneuron pathology It is our hope that this collection promotes further expansion of knowledge on human motoneurons
