In Gatsby's Shadow Larry Haeg,2004-10-01 In the closing decades of the nineteenth century Minnesota produced three young men of great talent who each went east to become writers Two of them became famous F Scott Fitzgerald and Sinclair Lewis This is the story of the third man Charles Macomb Flandrau Flandrau a model of style and worldly sophistication and destined almost everyone agreed for greatness was among the most talented young writers of his generation His short stories about Harvard in the 1890s were called the first realistic description of undergraduate life in American colleges and sold out of the first printing in a few weeks From 1899 to 1902 Flandrau was among the most popular contributors to the Saturday Evening Post Alexander Woollcott rated him the best essayist in America And Viva Mexico Flandrau's account of life on a Mexican coffee plantation is a classic perhaps the best travel book ever written by an American Yet Flandrau turned his back on it all Financially independent he chose a solitary epicurean life in St Paul Mexico Majorca Paris and Normandy In later years he confined his writing to local newspaper pieces and letters to his small circle of family and friends Using excerpts from these newspaper columns and unpublished letters Larry Haeg has painstakingly recreated the story of this urbane talented witty lazy enigmatic supremely private man who never reached the peak of literary success to which his talent might have taken him This very readable biography provides a detailed and honest portrayal of Flandrau and his times It will fascinate readers interested in writers life stories and scholars of American literature as well as general readers interested in midwestern literary history      The Socratic Method Michael Graubart Levin,1988-09-12 Can progressive professor Rebecca Shepherd gain tenure at McKinley Law School without losing her scruples and her mind Amidst the bribery blackmail and deceit of the term s very first week she is going to give it the old college try An acclaimed acidic satire of law school life      The Teller of Burnham Bank Troy Victor Post,2010-10-30 Every building has a story to tell All it needs is someone to tell it In The Teller of Burnham Bank that someone is Hal Ogdens the editor of a nearly bankrupt weekly newspaper constantly at battle with the town s contentious mayor who happens also to be his ex wife over how best to preserve the historic fabric of downtown New Brooklyn Alabama But when Hal teams up with the mayor s estranged daughter Nell to rescue a landmark building from the mayor and her urban renewal plans more than the life of an old building will be at stake EXCERPT FROM BOOK Hey look at this one said James holding up one of the photographs I wonder what s up with her The photo he held was a picture of the Burnham Bank building from 1939 as evidenced by the tax assessment sign in the still documenting the year No longer a bank but the location for a five and dime store the building itself appeared to be in good repair with an ornate wooden door at the building s corner and perhaps fifteen arched windows each topped with a marble lintel An elegant spire a feature missing from the present structure crowned the roof But what instantly drew our attention was not the building it was rather a woman who stood in the foreground With arms drawn high to shield her face one thing seemed apparent she did not want to be photographed      The American Hebrew ,1926
