

Make Something Wonderful

There's lots of ways to be, as a person. And some people express their deep appreciation in different ways. But one of the ways that I believe people express their appreciation to the rest of humanity is to make something wonderful and put it out there.

And you never meet the people. You never shake their hands. You never hear their story or tell yours. But somehow, in the act of making something with a great deal of care and love, something's transmitted there. And it's a way of expressing to the rest of our species our deep appreciation. So we need to be true to who we are and remember what's really important to us.

timely themes for readers to be able to foresee the digital era's impact on English teaching in non-English speaking countries. English used in the global environment, the frequent mobile communication and the use of AI-based translators are bringing about dramatic changes in our English language learning and teaching. Who can provide us the wisdom to know what to do? Those scholars going through these complex environmental changes. A collection of puzzle pieces may bring us a better contour for the future than a perfectly edited book. It's indeed a pleasure reading these insightful pieces to gain wisdom for the future of ELT practices in global contexts.

Memory, Intermediality, and Literature Sara Tanderup Linkis, 2019-04-16. If readers of Sara Tanderup Linkis' Something to hold on to open the book in the expectation of entering a niche of literature and literary studies, they will leave it after having encountered a new highway in literature. Here the traditional theme of memory and the most recent use of digital media merge into a new understanding of the role of the book in the contemporary media landscape and of vicissitudes of memorial processes in literature, which also offers a broader perspective on literature in human history. Spurred by Sara Tanderup Linkis' sharp eye, the readings of texts are lucid, engaging, and offers so many ideas that teachers will renew their curricula and readers will open the internet for more or rush to the library.

Svend Erik Larsen, professor emeritus, Memory, Intermediality, and Literature investigates how selected literary works use intermedial strategies to represent and perform cultural memory. Drawing on the theoretical perspectives of cultural memory studies, this engaging reader-friendly monograph examines new materialism and intermediality studies analyzing works by Alexander Kluge, W.G. Sebald, Jonathan Safran Foer, Anne Carson, Mette Hegne, J. William Joyce, J.J. Abrams, and Doug Dorst. The works emerge out of different traditions and genres ranging from neo avant-garde montages through photo novels and book objects to apps and children's stories. In this new monograph, Sara Tanderup Linkis presents an interdisciplinary and comparative approach reading the works together across genres and decades and combining the perspectives of memory studies and materialist and media-oriented analysis. This approach makes it possible to argue that the works not only use intermedial strategies to represent memory but also to remember literature, reflecting on the changing status and function of literature as a mediator of cultural memory in the age of new media. Thus the works may be read as reactions to modern media culture, suggesting the ways in which literature and memory are affected by new media and technologies, photography and television as well as iPads and social media.
