Martinic,Fiona Measham,2008-06-19 There is evidence that a distinct pattern of alcohol consumption is emerging across the world and is a cause for concern because of its relationship with a range of health and social problems Its visibility particularly its high involvement of young people makes this not only an issue for public safety and order in many countries but also a highly contentious and politicized subject This book examines the rapid and heavy drinking behavior by young people described in a number of countries positioning it within its appropriate social historical and cultural contexts The book argues in favor of a new term extreme drinking to fully encapsulate the many facets of this behavior taking into account the underlying motivations for the heavy excessive and unrestrained drinking patterns of many young people It also acknowledges the drinking process itself and accommodates greater focus on outcomes that are likely to follow In many ways extreme drinking is not so far removed from other extreme behaviors such as extreme sports all offer a challenge their pursuit is motivated by an expectation of pleasure and they are by design not without risk to those who engage in them others around them and society as a whole Edited by Marjana Martinic and Fiona Measham Swimming with Crocodiles is the ninth volume in the ICAP Book Series on Alcohol in Society The authors discuss the factors that motivate extreme drinking address the developmental cultural and historical contexts that have surrounded it and offer a new approach to addressing this behavior through prevention and policy The centerpiece of the book is a series of focus groups conducted with young people in Brazil China Italy Nigeria Russia South Africa and the United Kingdom which examine their views on extreme drinking motivations behind it and the cultural similarities and differences that exist conferring at once risk and protective factors    Alerta ,1975    Sociological Abstracts Leo P.
