2015 Agricultural Productivity, Decentralisation, And Competitiveness Analysis For Provinces And Regions Of Indonesia Khee Giap Tan, Nurina Merdikawati, Mulya Amri, Kong Yam Tan, 2016-11-22 This book is the only annual study that dissects Indonesia's sub national competitiveness at both the provincial level covering 34 provinces and the regional level covering six major island groups Based on a rich dataset of 103 indicators the study covers four environments of competitiveness 1 Macroeconomic Stability 2 Government and Institutional Setting 3 Financial Businesses and Manpower Conditions and 4 Quality of Life and Infrastructure Development It also presents each province and region's comparative strengths and weaknesses and conducts what if policy simulations to propose policy suggestions Too-Big-to-Fail in Banking Tom Filip Lesche, 2021-06-28 This book provides a comprehensive summary of the latest academic research on the important topic of too big to fail TBTF in banking It explains TBTF from various perspectives including the range of regulatory measures proposed to counter TBTF most notably the globally accepted regulation of global systemically important banks G-SIBs and its main tool of capital surcharges The empirical analysis quantifies the shareholder value of the G-SIB attribution by using quarterly observations from more than 750 global banks between Q2 2008 and Q3 2015 The main finding is that G-SIBs are confronted with a substantial relative valuation discount compared to non G-SIBs From the end of 2011 until the end of 2015 a stable discount of 0.6x to 0.8x price to tangible common equity P/TCE is statistically highly significant The results suggest that the G-SIB designation effect which positively impacts G-SIBs share prices because of funding benefits from IGGs is dominated by the regulatory G-SIB burden effect which negatively impacts G-SIBs share prices because of lower profitability due to capital surcharges and other regulatory requirements placed on G-SIBs The findings re-open the debate about whether breaking up G-SIBs would unlock shareholder value and whether G-SIBs are regulated efficiently Economic Development for Everyone Mark M. Miller, 2017-05-09 How do we create employment grow businesses and build greater economic resilience in our low income communities How do we create economic development for everyone everywhere including rural towns inner city neighborhoods aging suburbs and regions such as Appalachia American Indian reservations the Mexican border and the Mississippi Delta and not just in elite communities Economic Development for Everyone collects organizes and reviews much of the current research available on creating economic development in low income communities Part I offers an overview of the harsh realities facing low income communities in the US today their many economic and social challenges debates on whether to try reviving local economies vs relocating residents and current trends in economic development that emphasize high tech industry and high levels of human capital Part II organizes the sprawling literature of applied economic development research into a practical framework of five dynamic dimensions empower your residents begin with basic education enhance your community build on existing assets encourage your entrepreneurs diversify your economy and sustain your development This book assembled and presented in a unified framework will be invaluable for students and new researchers of economic development in low income communities and will offer new perspectives for established researchers professional economic developers and planners and public officials Development practitioners and community leaders will also find new ideas and opportunities along with a broad view on how the many complex parts of economic development interconnect

A Compelling Case for Universities Quintin McKellar, 2025-05-01 This book unapologetically celebrates the achievements of the University Major drivers of enlightenment and powerhouses of the economy universities have evolved and thrived for over a thousand years While still reflecting their beginnings in medieval knowledge sharing communities modern universities have grown exponentially in both size and number Predictions suggest global student numbers will more than double from 216 million in 2016 to 472 million in 2035 This growth has demanded new models of funding as well as many new providers who have added diversity and complexity to the traditional idea of a university The author recounts this exciting evolution before turning to the major issues with which higher education is concerned today broadly following the student journey from admission to graduation and beyond A prospective university student first needs to gain a place the process throwing up important questions about access and equity Once admitted they can benefit from not only the education on offer but a wealth of extra curricular opportunities And research suggests that once they leave the experience of university will enrich their life in numerous ways With clear sighted chapters on research and innovation and thoughtful excursions into funding and governance together with some proposals for change this is a trenchant review of today's university landscape which nonetheless concludes that the current model of higher education is both highly effective and sufficiently adaptive Whilst facing up to difficult issues which must be addressed Professor McKellar derives satisfaction from the evidence of great overall achievement

Investing in wet mills and washed coffee in Ethiopia: Benefits and constraints Tamru, Seneshaw, Minten, Bart, 2018-08-09 Local value addition in developing countries is often aimed at the upgrading of agricultural value chains since it is assumed that doing so will make farmers better off However transmission of the added value through the value chain and constraints to adoption of value adding activities by farmers are not well understood We look at this issue in the case of coffee in Ethiopia the country's most important export product and value addition in the coffee value chain through washing coffee which is done in wet mills Washed coffee is sold internationally with a significant premium compared to natural coffee and we find that this premium is largely transmitted to producers However while wet mills have become more widespread the share of washed coffee in Ethiopia's coffee exports is not increasing over time and even if coffee farmers have access to a wet mill they often do not sell all their coffee cherries to them Relying on a unique primary large scale dataset and a combination of qualitative and quantitative methods we examine the reasons for this puzzle The reasons seemingly are twofold First labor productivity in producing red cherries which wet mills require is lower than for natural coffee reducing incentives for adoption especially for those farmers with higher opportunity costs of labor Second only impatient often smaller farmers sell red cherries as more patient farmers use the storable dried coffee cherries as a rewarding savings instrument given the negative real deposit rates in formal savings institutions
