Once a model for Britain's industrial reach and dominance ICI collapsed in the mid 2000s with some still profitable elements sold off to other chemical firms. The book focuses on the firm's origin site in the Northeast of England around Middlesbrough engaging the remnants of the company magazine oral histories and social media posts and material artifacts in the world to relate a history of the social environmental cultural and imaginative and bodily impact of the presence and then absence of ICI. This unique work is open to coincidence and speculation drawing on science fictional and urban myth narratives which emanate from the area. Through the lens of global narratives of industrial and philosophical innovation it inquires into uncommon and diverse themes such as the manufacture of Quorn the place of photographic mediation of the factory and industrial disease. Setting out from a context of heavy industry and material processing the book seeks to stimulate poetic and creative thinking around the ways in which people's lives were enmeshed with synthetic chemicals and the dreams that seemed to ooze and seep from them as by products. The Dreadnought and the Edwardian Age Andrew D. Lambert, Robert J. Blyth, Jan Rüger, 2011 The name of HMS Dreadnought is closely associated with the age of empire the Anglo German antagonism and the pre First World War naval arms race. Yet it was also bound up with a range of political and cultural national and international contexts central to the Edwardian period. This volume investigates these contexts and their intersection in this symbolically charged icon of the Edwardian age. Sessional Papers Great Britain. Parliament.
