Churchill,2003-03-31 Improvements in computer networking have heralded great expectations for computer mediated distributed work However experience has revealed that as information flow improves a central problem for distributed workers is the administration management and control of that information Research into Computer Supported Cooperative Work CSCW investigates design methods and technologies for the support of collaboration communication and coordination of distributed group work both within and among organizations In tandem with this focus on the support of distributed communication and collaboration there have been exciting developments in the fields of Intelligent Agents and Distributed Artificial Intelligence DAI notably in the concepts theories and deployment of intelligent agents as a means of distributing computer based problem solving expertise The paradigm of multi agent systems forms a proposed basis for the design of CSCW architectures the support of CSCW operations and for addressing some of the problems of cooperative working The application of a multi agent approach to CSCW makes information exchange among the participants easier by delivering support to the participants assisting workflows and procedures and providing convenient user interfaces to CSCW systems Furthermore the ideas inherent in such an approach are also applicable to other domains such as support for interactive learning Organizations that seek to exploit the advantages offered through CSCW will benefit from the integration of agents in the management and use of their corporate knowledge especially with the advancement of wired or wireless networking pervasive computing and other information technologies Agent Supported Cooperative Work describes the state of the art in this exciting new area covering both theoretical foundations and practical applications of ASCW It is the first book explicitly dedicated to ASCW bringing together contributions from international experts in the field

User-Innovation Viktor Braun,Cornelius Herstatt,2009-06-06 Economic growth is highly dependent on technological progress and innovation yet the sources from which these innovations originate are still largely misunderstood and untapped Recent research has demonstrated that users rather than manufacturers are often a critical source of innovation in numerous fields from extreme sports to medical devices to software This book systematically identifies the most important barriers to user innovation and critically evaluates the democratization of innovation argument by critically assessing the main legal economic technological and societal barriers to user innovation for the first time and proposing alternative possibilities Through original research the author reveals the dynamics of user innovation and offers strategies for minimizing those factors that inhibit and stifle the spread of this phenomenon From this analysis it becomes clear that user innovation has become more difficult over time and that the problem is now of how manufacturers can enable users to overcome the discussed barriers and simultaneously benefit from such consumer driven activities Arguing that licenses are not just an important technology commercialization instrument but are tools critical to generating innovations the author explains how licenses can in certain situations be employed to help users overcome some of the barriers to user innovation User Innovation Barriers to Democratization and IP Licensing is a practical guidebook as well as a startlingly original work of scholarship that will be essential reading for years to come
