

Photosynthesis

The equation for photosynthesis is $6\text{CO}_2 + 6\text{H}_2\text{O} \rightarrow \text{C}_6\text{H}_{12}\text{O}_6 + 6\text{O}_2$

Photosynthesis is the process where plants transform light energy into chemical energy. Plants use this energy to make their own food. The light energy they captured is used to convert carbon dioxide, water and minerals into oxygen.

Chlorophyll → The pigment that gives the plants their green colour and helps in the process of photosynthesis by absorbing the light.

Chloroplasts → The plant cell structure where photosynthesis occurs. They are found in the palisade cells in the leaves.

Xylem → The plant vascular tissue that moves water and dissolved minerals upwards towards the rest of the plant and also provides physical support. The water-conducting function is essential for photosynthesis.

The photosynthesis process

- Plants take in water and carbon dioxide and use energy from the sun to turn them into food.
- Within the plant cell, water is oxidised, loses electrons and is changed into oxygen. Carbon dioxide is reduced, gains electrons and turns into glucose.
- Oxygen is released, and glucose is stored within the plant as energy.

Photosynthesis is an endothermic reaction. This means it cannot occur without energy (from the Sun).

To perform photosynthesis you must have a source of light, water and CO_2

Fun fact:

There are organisms other than plants that can go through photosynthesis. These include algae and the emerald green sea slug.

Phytoplankton Whispering: An Introduction to the Physiology and Ecology of Microalgae Patricia M. Glibert,2024-08-12 Phytoplankton or algae are the engines of the Earth They form the base of the aquatic food web and although microscopic they produce 50% of the oxygen in the air Many of our ideas of what makes these cells tick come from ideas developed decades ago But lakes and oceans are changing and so too are phytoplankton Our understanding has to change accordingly Nutrient pollution is a major problem worldwide and climate is changing altering temperature CO₂ and pH as well as the physics that control water stratification All of these factors control which species of phytoplankton may grow well at any particular time While algae grow in all types of aquatic systems not all algae are favorable for the production of fish and other food resources The prevalence of harmful algal blooms HABs has increased At the core of this effort is a drive to understand and to convey to researchers students and managers what kinds of phytoplankton are likely to thrive as conditions change and why this matters There has not yet been a synthetic summary that unravels the mysteries of phytoplankton in a modern world This book aims to provide such a resource Target Sites of Herbicide Action Peter Boger, Gerhard Sandmann,2020-11-26 This publication is based on the plant processes and reaction sites for which reliable knowledge on both their physiology and biochemistry and the mode of herbicidal action is available. Targets of the agrochemical research such as enzymes of biosynthetic pathways or herbicide binding peptides in the photosynthetic membrane are highlighted. Detailed knowledge about the target sites will allow biochemical model systems to evaluate the biological activity of newly synthesized compounds before their conventional screening in the greenhouse. Quantitative structure activity relationships should be performed more reliably with simple biological species or enzymology assays to aid in the rational design of pesticides. This text is highly valuable for plant physiologists, pathologists and chemists in the agrochemical industry and universities.

Handbook of Cannabis Production in Controlled Environments Youbin Zheng, 2022-06-29 For thousands of years Cannabis sativa commonly called cannabis or marijuana has been used for many different purposes. Due to its enormous medicinal values, increasing numbers of countries and regions have started to legalise the cultivation of this plant. When grown commercially, cannabis is most often produced in controlled environments including greenhouse and indoor growing rooms to ensure consistent growth and high quality. Even for field production, propagation is frequently conducted in controlled environments. Commercial operations and individual growers who cultivate cannabis for personal consumption require scientific information on how to cultivate cannabis most effectively and efficiently. To meet these needs, scientists have been conducting research on how to optimize cannabis cultivation both in small and large scales. Handbook of Cannabis Production in Controlled Environments is the result of collaborations between some leading cannabis scientists and highly experienced practitioners. Featuring full color illustrations and photographs throughout, this book covers a broad range of topics including cannabis biology, science and techniques for breeding and propagation, management and optimization of both aerial and rootzone environments, plant nutrition and nutrient disorder diagnosis, crop training and pest management, harvesting and post harvest processing. Along with the basic aspects of controlled environment cannabis production, this book summarises developments in these areas that may challenge old beliefs and improve production. Led by Editor Youbin Zheng, President of the Canadian Society for

Horticultural Science La Soci t Canadienne de Science Horticole this book is a practical guide for cultivators consultants and researchers a reference for students and an information source for individuals who grow cannabis for personal consumption
