World Bank East Asia and Pacific Economic Update, Spring 2020 World Bank, 2020-04-07 Growth in the developing East Asia and Pacific region slowed sharply in 2020Q1 because of the negative impact of the Covid 19 on economic activity The decline has been broad based reflecting the interconnectedness of the EAP economies and reverberations from the global economy as the virus turned into a pandemic The Covid 19 outbreak followed an extended period of subdued growth in the region amid multiple external headwinds and heightened trade policy uncertainty China and other regional economies have implemented monetary and fiscal policy measures to mitigate the negative impact of the outbreak Growth in the East Asia and Pacific EAP region is projected to slow from 5.8 percent in 2019 to lower than expected 5.2 percent in 2020 reflecting the expected negative effects of the COVID 19 In this baseline scenario which is subject to significant uncertainty growth in the region is expected to recover to 5.6 percent in 2021 as the impact of Covid 19 gradually dissipates In the medium term regional growth is expected to continue its downward trend reflecting multiple structural headwinds Policymakers should focus on designing economically efficient transmission control policies that consider both the marginal costs and the marginal benefits of preventive measures Such policies would ideally be based on countries preparedness and exposure as well as economic circumstances Targeted fiscal and monetary policies can help reduce the economic disruption caused by COVID 19 in the short term In the medium term there is need to restore depleted buffers address sources of financial instability and invest in preventing and coping with infectious disease Given the growing interdependence between EAP countries coordinated policies and investments could increase resilience to shocks

Children's Environmental Rights Under International and EU Law Francesca Ippolito, 2022-11-07 This book is dedicated to a topic which has for a long time lacked the attention it deserves within the academic world It intends to address in a coherent and comprehensive manner the problem of the environmental rights of the child which are not identical to the ones of adults whose environmental rights have been appraised from a general point of view In the absence of any international law instrument explicitly granting a child the right to a clean environment drawing on an extensive and original analysis of the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child and the practice of its monitoring body this book undertakes an assessment of the extent to which these challenges may be overcome through a greater engagement between international law on the rights of the child and international environmental law The result is the first comprehensive study on the manner in which these two mutually reinforcing legal regimes can interact to strengthen the protection of children's environmental human rights at stake in the increased strategic environmental and climate litigations at both the national and international level The book is recommended reading for amongst others policy makers international environmental lawyers and human rights lawyers and practitioners Additionally lecturers students and researchers from a range of disciplines will also gain from seeing how new legal scholarship and intertwined branches of international law contribute to the continual development of the living rights of the human rights conventions Francesca Ippolito is Associate Professor of International Law in the Department of Political and Social Science of the University of Cagliari Italy She holds the Jean Monnet Chair on European Climate of Change REACT for 2021-2024
