Cross-Lingual Word Embeddings Anders Søgaard, Ivan Vulić, Sebastian Ruder, Manaal Faruqi, 2022-05-31 The majority of natural language processing NLP is English language processing and while there is good language technology support for standard varieties of English support for Albanian Burmese or Cebuano and most other languages remains limited Being able to bridge this digital divide is important for scientific and democratic reasons but also represents an enormous growth potential A key challenge for this to happen is learning to align basic meaning bearing units of different languages In this book the authors survey and discuss recent and historical work on supervised and unsupervised learning of such alignments Specifically the book focuses on so called cross lingual word embeddings The survey is intended to be systematic using consistent notation and putting the available methods on comparable form making it easy to compare wildly different approaches In so doing the authors establish previously unreported relations between these methods and are able to present a fast growing literature in a very compact way Furthermore the authors discuss how best to evaluate cross lingual word embedding methods and survey the resources available for students and researchers interested in this topic A Grammar
