Discussing more than hundred problems and including about six hundred international references it offers a unique resource to advanced undergraduate and graduate students, researchers and also practical engineers, managers, test engineers, consultants and even old timer fans. Tractors are the most important pieces of agricultural mechanization hence a key factor of feeding the world. In order to address the educational needs of both less and more developed countries the author included fundamentals of simple but proved designs for tractors with moderate technical levels along with extensive information concerning modern premium tractors. The broad technical content has been structured according to five technology levels addressing all components. Relevant ISO standards are considered in all chapters. The book covers historical highlights, tractor project management including cost management, traction mechanics, tires including inflation control, belt ground drives and ride dynamics. Further topics are chassis design, diesel engines with emission limits and installation instructions, all important types of transmissions, topics in machine element design and human factors, health, safety, comfort. Moreover the content covers tractor implement management systems in particular ISOBUS automation and hydraulic systems. Cumulative damage fundamentals and tractor load spectra are described and implemented for dimensioning and design verification. Fundamentals of energy efficiency are discussed for single tractor components and solutions to reduce the tractor CO2 footprint are suggested Economic Affairs ,1990

Coastal areas are commonly defined as the interface or transition areas between land and sea including large inland lakes. Overall, about 50–70 % of the global population live within 100 km of the coastline, covering only about 4 % of Earth's land, thereby drawing heavily on coastal and marine habitats for food, building sites, transportation, recreational areas, and waste disposal. The people of these zones depend mainly on low-productive agriculture due to several constraints such as prolonged water logging and drainage congestion in predominantly low-lying areas with heavy soils during the wet season; preponderance of saline and acid sulphate soils; scarcity of good quality irrigation water, particularly in the dry season; seawater intrusion into adjoining lands; and water pollution due to eutrophication and others affecting the aquatic habitats, etc. Carbon sequestration in coastal areas such as marshes, lagoons, etc. has significant influence on soil quality and the carbon pool in soils, as well as their impacts on the environment. Over and above these, the coastal areas are prone to disasters due to climate change, leading to colossal loss of lives and properties in many areas. Forestry and mangrove dynamics, in particular, because of their continuing diminishing nature, are also subjects of interest affecting the ecology of coastal zones, requiring appropriate attention. The international symposium held in this context on Transforming Coastal Zones for Sustainable Food and Income Security in virtual mode in March 2021 offered scope to present and discuss various thematic areas by eminent scientists from all over the world. The proceedings of selected papers presented reflect cross-sectoral views of the areas, highlighting wherever necessary a fusion of technologies with the ultimate target to suggest livelihood security and sustainable development for the sensitive coastal zones. The book intends to share the knowledge with researchers, academicians, and various other stakeholders to address the complex problems of coastal regions: production constraints, social, economic, technical, and environmental issues, to draw out strategies for resilient agricultural technologies and improving livelihood security in coastal agro-ecosystems.
