this revised and updated edition of Barbra Teater's highly successful book. It remains essential reading for practitioners, undergraduate and postgraduate students of social work. The book provides a compelling and easily accessible analysis of key theories and methods. It challenges both students and practitioners to consider and reconsider how they can apply theories and methods to practice more effectively. Prof Hugh McLaughlin, Manchester Metropolitan University, UK. What a great book. Barbra Teater and colleagues have managed to bring together a wealth of learning about different theories and methods of social work intervention in a clearly written and accessible format. Each chapter is focused on the application of theory to practice and as such helps to act as a bridge from the classroom to direct work with individuals, families and groups. This new and updated edition is very likely to be one of those books that students have by their side throughout their studies and bring with them into professional practice after graduation. Dr John Devaney, Centenary Professor of Social Work, University of Edinburgh, UK. Annual Literary Index, 1911. Towards a New Social Work, Howard Jones, 2023-07-21. In the 1970s social work in Britain was in crisis. A process of self-searching had begun, stimulated by changes in the organization of social services departments, by the growth of the radical movement in social work and by the emergence of new techniques in social work. All this might have seemed a confusing and depressing prospect, but Professor Howard Jones, the editor of this collection of essays originally published in 1975, felt on the contrary that this new situation in social work presented an opportunity for a potentially rewarding debate. He believed that the old unsatisfactory mould had been broken and that it was now possible for the first time for many years to look at the basic issues in social work without preconceptions. The contributors to this book were all actively involved in the teaching and practice of social work at the time and they came together to initiate a debate on the leading issues of the day. They were all concerned to find a right course for social work in this crucial period and among the topics they cover are social work training, social workers and political action, community participation and making use of research. Counseling Theory, Richard D. Parsons, Naijian Zhang, 2014-01-16. Organized around the latest CACREP standards, Counseling Theory: Guiding Reflective Practice by Richard D. Parsons and Naijian Zhang presents theory as an essential component to both counselor identity formation and professional practice. Drawing on the contributions of current practitioners, the text uses both classical and cutting-edge theoretical models of change as lenses for processing client information and developing case conceptualizations and intervention plans. Each chapter provides a snapshot of a particular theory approach and the major thinkers associated with each theory, as well as case illustrations and guided practice exercises to help readers internalize the content presented and apply it to their own development as counselors.
