The Course Reflection Project Nicole Schonemann, Emily Metzgar, Andrew Libby, 2015-05-01 Service learning is entering a post initiatory phase At tertiary institutions of all types and sizes service learning programs are common and service learning requirements for graduation are growing in popularity Taken together alongside continued faculty interest in effective teaching these factors have raised the visibility and popularity of service learning Now the greater need in service learning is not to prove the need for or efficacy of service learning but to turn the focus squarely back on practice Following established best practice is not enough instructors also need to reflect on how this fits within the specific context and application of each unique course and service learning partnership While there are many excellent resources that detail best practice and showcase exemplary service learning courses faculty reflection and course revision often goes unmentioned In response to the lack of attention on the role of reflection and course revision we convened groups of faculty from a variety of disciplines to reflect deeply on their courses paying specific attention to obstacles and challenges These conversations were converted to articles for this edited collection each chapter representing the process of reflection and revision and serving as a guide to develop effective practice in varied curricular contexts This text contributes to the body of literature on service learning in a unique and practical manner Faculty teaching or interested in teaching service learning classes would benefit from this text as well as university administrators and community service directors involved in service learning at a programmatic and institutional level This book should be marketed to faculty teaching disciplinary service learning classes and service learning pedagogy classes and administrative offices involved in service learning This could be a supplementary text for graduate level pedagogy courses Higher education institutional libraries would benefit from this text as well as the national and state campus compact offices

Developing Reflective TESOL Practitioners Through Teacher Education
Andrzej Cirocki, Mark Wyatt, Xuesong (Andy) Gao, 2024-06-26 This textbook provides insights from Asian contexts into how reflective practice is nurtured on Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages TESOL and English Language Teaching ELT teacher education programmes There is increasing recognition worldwide that given the centrality of reflective practice to teachers ongoing professional development supporting teachers to become reflective practitioners should be integral to teacher education programmes Consequently tertiary level courses in areas such as TESOL and ELT tend to promote reflective practice supported by theoretical input from the burgeoning literature on reflection much of which is produced in the West Relatively under represented in the literature are global perspectives on reflective practice there are consequently relatively few accounts as to how reflective practice is embedded in teacher education programmes in different parts of the world including Asia Hence this book addresses a gap Contributing authors from fourteen countries provide insights into the ways in which teachers are helped to grow as reflective practitioners on their teacher education programmes in their unique contexts This textbook showcases how reflective teaching practices are developed supported by frameworks for critical reflection and in interaction with local educational policies These distinctive accounts aid readers in reflecting on the ways in which reflective practice is supported in their own teacher education contexts and in considering ways of enhancing the reflective dimension of their programmes This textbook showcases innovative reflective activities and can be used as a principal text or as supplemental reading on a range of TESOL and ELT teacher education courses

Course-Based Undergraduate Research Nancy H. Hensel, 2023-07-03 Co published with the Council on Undergraduate Research Undergraduate research has long been recognized as a high impact practice HIP but has unfortunately been offered only to juniors and seniors and to very few of them often in summer programs This book shows how to engage students in authentic research experiences built into the design of courses in the first two years thus making the experience available to a much greater number of students Research that is embedded in a course especially general education courses addresses the issue of how to expand undergraduate research to all students Research has shown that students who have early experiences in undergraduate research are more likely to pursue further research prior to and after graduation This is also an issue of social justice because it makes the benefits of undergraduate research available to students who must work during the academic year and in the summer It is widely accepted that the skills developed through undergraduate research help prepare students for their future careers The book addresses all aspects of the topic including What are appropriate expectations for research in the first two years How to design appropriate course based research for first and second year students How to mentor a class rather than individual students How students can disseminate the results of their research Possible citizen science projects appropriate for the first and second years Providing additional resources available to support course based research in the first two years Designed for faculty at four year and two year colleges and including examples from the sciences the social sciences and the humanities the strategies and methods described can be adapted to disciplines not specifically mentioned in the book Many faculty are hesitant to engage first and second year students in undergraduate research because they worry students don't know enough to conduct authentic research in their discipline because they worry about the time it will take to develop activities for these students and because they wonder how they can mentor a whole class of students doing research The authors have successfully dealt with these issues and provide examples of how it's done

Engaging with Vocation on Campus Karen Lovett, Stephen Wilhoit, 2021-12-29 Bringing together narratives and theory based analyses of practice this volume illustrates collaborative curricular and co-curricular approaches to promoting vocational discernment amongst students in a Catholic university setting Drawing on cultural religious and secular understandings of vocation Engaging with Vocation on Campus illustrates how contemporary issues around vocation work and careers can be addressed within the Catholic intellectual and spiritual tradition Chapters presents a range of contributions from students faculty and staff from a single institution to highlight practical approaches to supporting students in this area and acknowledge the complementary and intersecting roles played by student support services academic staff and on campus ministry in helping students develop an individualised understanding of vocation Considering the value of both curricular or non curricular activities and processes the volume highlights spiritual personal and community value in offering students explicit and tailored support This text will benefit researchers academics and educators with an interest in higher education religious education and the Christian life and experience more broadly Those specifically interested in career guidance theological curriculum and pedagogy and Roman Catholicism will also benefit from this book Handbook of Counselor Preparation Garrett McAuliffe, Karen Eriksen, 2011 This definitive single volume guide is the first of its kind on teaching and developing counselor educator programs that embrace constructivist and developmental theory Leading scholars and experts offer practical advice on teaching courses in every area of counseling practice As a result the book is ideal for current and future counselor educators and supervisors as well as faculty in other helping professions The authors seek to inspire educators to empower and involve to risk losing control over subject matter to hear student voices to pose dilemmas and to challenge their own assumptions in the presence of their students using constructivist developmental and experiential thinking and strategies A Petroleum Geologist's Guide to Seismic Reflection William Ashcroft, 2011-03-08 This book is written for advanced earth science students geologists petroleum engineers and others who want to get quickly up to speed on the interpretation of reflection seismic data It is a development of material given to students on the MSc course in Petroleum Geology at Aberdeen University and takes the form of a course manual rather than a systematic textbook It can be used as a self contained course for individual study or as the basis for a class programme The book clarifies those aspects of the subject that students tend to find difficult and provides insights through practical tutorials which aim to reinforce and deepen understanding of key topics and provide the reader with a measure of feedback on progress Some tutorials may only involve drawing simple diagrams but many are computer aided PC based with graphics output to give insight into key steps in seismic data processing or into the seismic response of some common geological scenarios Part I of the book covers basic ideas and it ends with two tutorials in 2 D structural interpretation Part II concentrates on the current seismic reflection contribution to reservoir studies based on 3 D data ECMLG 2011 Proceedings of the 7th European Conference on Management Leadership and Governance Charles Despres, 2011-06-10 The Perfect Online Course Michael Simonson, Terry L. Hudgins, Anymir Orellana, 2009-05-01 The Perfect Online Course Best Practices for Designing and Teaching was edited under the assumption that a perfect online course can be delivered following different instructional methods and models for design and for instruction and by implementing different teaching or instructional strategies Such methods models and strategies are framed within quality educational guidelines and must be aimed towards attaining the online course's learning goals. The book seeks to make a contribution to the existing body of literature related to best practices and guidelines for designing and teaching distance courses specifically online education. The process of selecting works suitable for this compilation included an extensive review of the journals Quarterly Review of Distance Education and Distance Learning. The book begins by covering literature related to general approaches and guidelines, continues with proposed methods and models for designing and instruction, and ends with instructional strategies to achieve engagement through interaction. The book is divided into four independent yet interrelated parts and a concluding section: Part I Introduction, Part II Best Guidelines and Standards, Part III Best Instructional Methods and Models, Part IV Best Engagement Strategies, and the concluding section. And finally, with words from Simonson who delineates the structure of a perfect online course.

A Toolkit for Mid-Career Academics Vicki L. Baker, Aimee LaPointe Terosky, Laura Gail Lunsford, 2024-04-09. Mid-career faculty are the backbone of the college and university workforce and represent the largest population of faculty in the academy, yet they face myriad challenges that hinder career satisfaction and advancement. This book offers action-oriented tools to engage or re-engage mid-career programming at the individual, faculty, institutional, consortial, and grant-funded levels. Bringing together leading scholars and practitioners engaged in research and practice, this edited volume offers solutions to two driving questions faced by mid-career faculty: what's next and how to navigate. This focus on both what and how highlights critical issues and challenges associated with mid-career, coupled with specific tools and strategies to successfully navigate from diverse stakeholder perspectives. Jargon-free and rich with stories from the field, each chapter can serve as a stand-alone resource, be read in order as presented, or be read non-sequentially based on the reader's specific needs. Mid-career faculty, including non-tenure track and community college academics, will welcome the resources, tools, and strategies featured throughout this book. The pocket professional development mentor to help create more inclusive and equitable programming at multiple levels.
