BIOL 112 - Renal Physiology & Urinalysis Lab Worksheet

The main functions of the kidneys include:

- Maintain blood volume, ensuring adequate blood pressure
- Acid-base regulation
- Electrolyte balance
- Removal of wastes, toxins

The byproduct of urine is the waste of the above renal functions. Urine is a solution of water, salts and nitrogenous wastes produced when the blood is filtered through a highly complex filtering mechanism that regulates all physiological function. Urine is a byproduct of the renal system's function in maintaining homeostasis. For example, a component of the specific gravity (SG) reflects the weight of solutes in fluids and electrolytes, water in blood and other body fluid compartments. Analyzing the composition of urine is an extremely useful technique for assessing physiological homeostasis.
