

The Enlightenment and Revolutions

Introduction

The Age of Enlightenment, which ran from the middle of the 1600s until the late 1700s, brought about a new age of reason in Europe. Thinkers such as John Locke, Jean-Jacques Rousseau, Voltaire, and Baron de Montesquieu suggested new ways in which society and government should be structured according to the principles of logic and rationalism. However, the governments of Europe at the time were absolutist in nature and those in power rarely wished to embrace any changes that result in a loss of authority. Starting in the second half of the 18th century, a number of armed revolutions occurred which sought to forcibly enact the ideals of the Enlightenment when a monarch refused to do so themselves. These revolutions (American, French, Haitian, Mexican and Latin American) all shared similar causes which were deeply rooted in the ideals of the Enlightenment. Today you will be reading about the causes and effects of these revolutions and whether or not they truly upheld Enlightenment ideals.

Class 1: Debt and Taxation

One of the leading causes of the Enlightenment-era revolutions was the issue of taxation in order to pay-off national debts. The British government was deeply in debt due to having to defend the 13 colonies from the French during the French and Indian War. A number of new taxes were levied against the colonies under the idea that the colonies should have to pay part of the costs since the British government fought to defend them. The colonies did not agree with this justification and saw these new taxes as oppressive. Similarly
