

Expository Essay Structure

Introduction	Introduce the essay with a hook that demonstrates relevance of the essay to the reader. Introduce the topic and outline your essay structure
	Thesis Statement: Don't forget to state your thesis statement in the introduction. For an expository essay, it should be a statement of fact not an argument.
Body Paragraphs	Each body paragraph should contribute one new key idea that adds depth to your explanations of the overarching topic, helping readers to develop a deeper understanding on the topic. Typical body paragraph structure is as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Topic sentence: Introduce what topic or point the paragraph will cover. The paragraph should only address one key point and not go off-topic.</li><li>• Elaboration: Elaborate on the topic sentence by adding detail and information about this argument.</li><li>• Support: Include a fact, quote, or important piece of information about the topic that demonstrates you have conducted research into the topic.</li><li>• Summary: Add one sentence that will summarize this paragraph topic and link it back to the overall thesis statement.</li><li>• Transition: Transition to the next paragraph.</li></ul>
Conclusion	Close the loop by returning to a statement you made in the introduction. Show what your final position is. Explain who should be interested in your findings. End by noting in one final, engaging sentence why this topic is of such importance.

Handbook of Response to Intervention and Multi-Tiered Systems of Support

Paige C. Pullen, Michael J. Kennedy, 2018-10-04 Of the many issues facing special education and general education today it is difficult to imagine one more important or timely than response to intervention RTI Almost overnight RTI has become standard practice across the nation Unfortunately RTI remains ill defined falls far short of its evidence based practice goal is almost invariably misused and often results in more harm than good Nevertheless as a conceptual framework RTI has great potential for ensuring that students with disabilities receive appropriate evidence based instruction The mission of this handbook is to present a comprehensive and integrated discussion of response to intervention RTI and its relation to multi tiered systems of support MTSS in both special education and general education Although the two terms are currently used interchangeably distinct differences exist between them Therefore chapters are dedicated to distinguishing the two concepts RTI and MTSS and describing each one s unique role in both general and special education In addition the authors recommend a third term Multi Tiered Instruction to differentiate the practices related to the purpose of the specific intervention

Genre in the Classroom Ann M. Johns, 2001-11-01 For the first time the major theoretical and pedagogical approaches to genre and related issues of social construction are presented in a single volume providing an overview of the state of the art for practitioners in applied linguistics ESL EFL pedagogies rhetoric and composition studies around the world Unlike volumes that present one theoretical stance this book attempts to give equal time to all theoretical and pedagogical camps Included are chapters by authors from the Sydney School the New Rhetoric and English for Specific Purposes as well as contributions from other practitioners who pose questions that cross theoretical lines Genre in the Classroom includes all of the major theoretical views of genre that influence pedagogical practice takes an international approach drawing from all parts of the world in which genre theory has been applied in the classroom Australia Canada Hong Kong the Middle East the United States features contributors who are all both theorists and classroom practitioners lending credibility and authenticity to the arguments combines theory and practice in every chapter showing how particular theoretical views influence classroom practice grounds pedagogical practices in their own regional and theoretical histories openly discusses problems and questions that genre theory raises and presents some of the solutions suggested and offers a concluding chapter that argues for two macro genres and with responses to this argument by noted genre theorists from three theoretical camps

Arab Students' Writing in English at the College Level Ruwaida Abu Rass, 2024-12-02 This book contains detailed theoretical information as well as practical strategies, techniques and pedagogical tips. It also includes analysis to the problems and challenges that face ESL/EFL students in general and Arab learners in specific. The book could be of interest not only to EFL researchers in academic writing, writing instructors, EFL educators at the college level, policymakers and undergraduate and graduate students but also for any second or foreign language teachers.

A Program Development Handbook for the Holistic Assessment of Writing Norbert Elliot, Maximino Plata, Paul F. Zelhart, 1990 This book is a major breakthrough for developers of writing assessment programs who must certify the writing competency of undergraduate students. Legislators and accreditation boards across the nation have called for and implemented large scale projects to measure educational outcomes. This single source provides comprehensive information on the history, underlying concepts and process of conducting a large scale writing assessment program at a specific institution of higher education. The handbook opens with an analysis of the rationale for the assessment of writing during the junior year of the undergraduate curriculum. The authors then turn to a case study of the success of their own institutional wide assessment program. A history is provided of 20th century writing assessment practices as well; attention is given to defining levels of literacy. After describing an assessment process model, discussion turns to the design of questions, the administration of the assessment, the rating of papers and the statistical analysis of data. Attention is also given to the design of a course for those who are unsuccessful on the assessment. The study closes with directions for further research and over 200 references in the bibliography.
