 - Turn off the lights at the end of the work day.
 - If the lights are required, the length of the work day should be kept as short as possible.
- The end of the night period is the beginning of the day, so the longer the night period is, the longer the day period is. Therefore, the longer the night period is, the longer the day period is. This is a problem for the producer because the longer the day period is, the longer the night period is. This is a problem for the producer because the longer the day period is, the longer the night period is.

The producer will increase its output level until the marginal revenue product of the input is equal to the input price. This is the profit-maximizing output level.
