resources to conduct such tests regularly Many malfunctions remain undetected until the structure corrodes and leaks Several companies have begun manufacturing remote monitoring units RMUs for CP systems This technology allows personnel to monitor multiple CP systems from a central location so problems can be detected and repaired immediately An 8 month field evaluation of CP RMUs was performed to determine the effectiveness of systems from three manufacturers Demonstration systems were selected on the basis of cost features availability etc RMU readings were compared with manual method readings throughout a variety of conditions Units from only one manufacturer performed successfully New systems have entered the market since this demonstration began

The Use of Instructional Technology in Schools Mal Lee, Arthur Winzenried, 2009 The Use of Instructional Technology in Schools examines teachers use of the major instructional technologies over the last century from the days of silent film radio and slide shows through to the modern interactive whiteboard and the Internet It explores the reasons why so few teachers have used these technologies and why even in today's digital world the most commonly used classroom tools are the pen paper and teaching board The book provides education decision makers with an invaluable insight into the million dollar question What is required to get all teachers across the nation using the appropriate instructional technology as a normal part of everyday teaching Without question student learning is enhanced by adopting these new technologies Until now research on why the majority of teachers use only the most basic tools in the classroom has been scarce The Use of Instructional Technology in Schools examines this phenomenon and most importantly identifies what is required to achieve teachers universal acceptance of instructional technologies
