Writing Sample

Students are required to write an essay responding to one of two topics. You should express your thoughts clearly and organize your ideas so that they will make sense to a reader. Your essay should be well developed with many specific details. Correct grammar and sentence structure are important. Your score will be based on your ability to express, organize, and support your opinions and ideas, not the position you take on the essay topic.

Introduction:

Introductory Paragraph

Begin the first paragraph of your essay with a topic sentence that expresses the main point of your essay, the thesis statement, a kind of mini-outline for the essay; it tells the reader what the essay is about. For the second sentence write a subordinate sentence about one of the main points supporting the topic sentence of the essay. The third sentence write a second subordinate sentence about another main point supporting the topic sentence of the essay. Finish the first paragraph with a concluding or summary sentence. It must also contain a transitional "hook" which moves the reader to the first paragraph of the body of the essay.

Body:

Body – First Paragraph:

The first paragraph of the body should contain the strongest argument, most significant example, cleverest illustration, or an obvious beginning point. The first sentence of this paragraph should include the "reverse hook" which ties in with the transitional hook at the end of the introductory paragraph. The topic for this paragraph should be in the first or second sentence. This topic should relate to the thesis statement in the introductory paragraph. The last sentence in this paragraph should include a transitional hook to tie the second paragraph of the body.

Body – Second Paragraph:

The second paragraph of the body should contain the second strongest argument, second most significant example, second cleverest illustration, or an obvious follow up the first paragraph in the body. The first sentence of this paragraph should include the reverse hook which ties in with the transitional hook at the end of the paragraph of the body. The topic for this paragraph should be in the first or second sentence. This topic should relate to the thesis state in the introductory paragraph. The last sentence in this paragraph should include a transitional hook to tie into the third paragraph of the body.

Body – Third Paragraph:

The third paragraph of the body should contain the weakest argument, weakest example, weakest illustration, or an obvious follow up to the second paragraph in the body. The first sentence of this paragraph should include the reverse hook which ties in with the transitional hook at the end of the second paragraph. The topic for this paragraph should be in the first or second sentence. This topic should relate to the thesis statement in the introductory paragraph. The last sentence in this paragraph should include a transitional concluding hook that signals the reader that this is the final major point being made in the essay. This hook also leads in to the last, or concluding, paragraph.

reading and writing skills in English language      Reading for Justice Ashley S. Boyd, Janine J. Darragh, 2023-03-27 This book illustrates how middle level English language arts teachers can draw upon young adult literature to facilitate students understanding of issues of oppression and allow them opportunities for social action Each chapter centers on one novel that represents a contemporary topic including the refugee crisis Indigenous rights trauma and bullying In each authors provide pre during and after reading strategies for teaching that connect the social issues in the texts to students lives and to the world around them Research writing and digital literacies are emphasized throughout Authors also include topics for teaching at the intersections of the focal topic with other areas of social justice Finally they provide a multitude of avenues for student action emphasizing the need to move readers from understanding and awareness to asserting their own agency and capacities to effect change in their local national and global communities Additional resources are also included as extensions such as documentaries young adult literature companions for study connected music and supplementary lesson plans      Essays in Linguistic Ethnography Adrian Blackledge, Angela Creese, 2023-09-12 This book argues for an approach to linguistic ethnography which departs from the singular gaze of the academic researcher to amplify instead the voices of participants researchers and collaborators The authors offer an account of writing ethnography polyphonically incorporating the complexity of individual voices In doing so they challenge the imperative to make meaning from and explain the culture of the other Together the essays open up the emic perspective by considering the experiential aesthetic emotional moral and ethical value people bring to encounters with others The book is an essential addition to research methods courses in applied linguistics and sociolinguistics and an invaluable contribution to knowledge about research based drama theatre and creative practice      Forum ,1982      Student Writing Theresa M. Lillis, 2002-01-04 Student Writing presents an accessible and thought provoking study of academic writing practices Informed by composition research from the US and academic literacies studies from the UK the book challenges current official discourse on writing as a skill Lillis argues for an approach which sees student writing as social practice The book draws extensively on a three year study with ten non traditional students in higher education and their experience of academic writing Using case study material including literacy history interviews extended discussions with students about their writing of discipline specific essays and extracts from essays Lillis identifies the following as three significant dimensions to academic writing Access to higher education and to its language and literacy representational resources Regulation of meaning making in academic writing Desire for participation in higher education and for choices over ways of meaning in academic writing Student Writing access regulation desire raises questions about why academics write as they do who benefits from such writing which meanings are valued and how on what terms outsiders get to be insiders and at what costs      Re-imagining Professional Experience in Initial Teacher Education Ange Fitzgerald, Graham Parr, Judy Williams, 2018-07-05 This book takes a fresh look at professional experience in initial teacher education in Australia Using collaborative narrative methodologies the authors critically explore the ways in which one faculty of education engages with schools industry the teaching profession and government policy to deliver an innovative professional experience program It includes chapters offering new perspectives on more traditional practicums in schools as well as those reporting on exciting partnership initiatives where pre service teachers teacher educators and practitioners work together to teach and learn in new and mutually beneficial ways There is a particular focus on the professional learning of all stakeholders from across the professional experience program The book allows readers to gain a new understanding of the experiences and learning opportunities available to all stakeholders when a professional experience program makes a priority of boundary work relational work and identity work With the critical and creative power of narrative to convey what other research methodologies cannot it shows how one institution has developed a variety of innovative approaches and structures in response to on going debates on quality in teacher education the role of educational partnerships in teacher preparation and the personal and professional insights gained from such opportunities
