

HOW TO READ A SAFETY DATA SHEET

OSHA Brief:

OSHA requires that the chemical manufacturer, distributor, or importer provide Safety Data Sheets (SDSs) for hazardous chemicals. OSHA requires that each hazardous chemical to be transported must be accompanied by an SDS. The information contained in the SDS is largely the same as the MSDS, except that the SDS is required to be provided in a condensed user-friendly, 28-section format. This new format provides guidance to help workers who handle hazardous chemicals to become familiar with the format and understand the contents of the SDSs.

The SDS is required to be provided in a condensed user-friendly format, the physical, health, and environmental health hazards, protective measures, and safety procedures for handling, storing, and transporting the chemical. The information contained in the SDS is required to be provided in a condensed user-friendly, 28-section format. OSHA requires that SDSs prepared provide specific minimum information as detailed in Appendix C of 29 CFR (29 CFR 1910.1200). The SDSs prepared may also include additional information as required by the GHS.

Sections 1 through 8 contain general information about the chemical, identification, hazards, composition, safe handling practices, and emergency control measures (e.g., first aid). This information should be helpful to those that need to get the information quickly. Sections 9 through 11, and 28 contain other technical and scientific information such as physical and chemical properties, stability and reactivity information, toxicology, and environmental fate. Sections 12 through 15 contain information about the date of preparation of the SDS. The SDS must also state that no applicable information was found when the preparer does not find relevant information for any chemical. The SDS must also contain Sections 12 through 15, to be consistent with the GHS Globally Harmonized System of Classification and Labeling of Chemicals (GHS), but OSHA will not consider the content of these sections because they contain information. A description of all 28 sections of the SDS, along with their contents, is presented below.

Section 1: Identification

This section identifies the chemical on the SDS as well as the recommended use. It also provides the recommended use of the supplier. The recommended use is optional.

- Product identifier used on the label and any other names or synonyms by which the substance is known.
- Name, address, phone number of the manufacturer, distributor, or other responsible party, and emergency phone number.
- Recommended use of the chemical (e.g., a first aid kit, a cleaning agent, a disinfectant, a fire extinguisher, and any restrictions on use (e.g., flammable, toxic, etc.) as given by the supplier).

Section 2: Hazard(s) Identification

This section contains the hazards of the chemical on the SDS and the appropriate warning information associated with those hazards. The required information consists of:

- The hazard classification of the chemical (e.g., flammable liquid, category 2).
- Signal word.
- Hazard statement(s).
- Pictograms (the pictograms or hazard symbols may be presented as graphical reproductions of the symbols in black and white or as a description of the name of the symbol (e.g., skull and crossbones, flame).
- Precautionary statement(s).
- Description of any hazards not otherwise classified.

- For a mixture that contains an ingredient with unknown toxicity, a statement indicating that the toxicity of the mixture cannot be determined. The statement should include the following information: (1) the name of the ingredient, (2) the concentration of the ingredient, and (3) the reason for the unknown toxicity (e.g., the ingredient is a trade secret or is not listed in the individual ingredient's SDS).

Section 3: Ingredients Information

This section provides information on the ingredients of the chemical on the SDS, including impurities and stabilizing additives. This section includes information on substances, mixtures, and all chemicals where a trade secret is claimed. The required information consists of:

- Substances:
 - Chemical name.
 - Chemical name and synonyms.
 - Chemical Abstracts Service (CAS) number and other unique identifiers.
 - Impurities and stabilizing additives, which are themselves classified and which contribute to the hazard classification of the chemical.
- Mixtures:
 - Some information required for substances:
 - The chemical name and concentration (i.e., exact percentage) of all ingredients which are classified as health hazards and are present above their cut-off concentration limits or present in a high risk below the cut-off concentration limits.
 - The concentration (exact percentage) of each ingredient must be specified except concentration ranges may be used in the following situations:
 - Each ingredient is toxic.
 - There is both a health hazard, or
 - The SDS is used for a group of substantially similar mixtures.
 - Details where a trade secret is claimed.
 - A statement that the specific chemical identity and/or exact percentage (concentration) of composition has been withheld as a trade secret is required.

Section 4: First-Aid Measures

This section describes the most cases that should be given by personnel responding to an individual who has been exposed to the chemical. The required information consists of:

- Necessary first aid instructions by relevant routes of exposure (inhalation, skin and eye contact, and ingestion).
- Other signs or symptoms requiring symptoms or effects, and any symptoms that are acute or delayed.
- Recommendations for immediate medical care and special treatment needed, when necessary.

Section 5: Fire-Fighting Measures

This section provides recommendations for fighting a fire caused by the chemical. The required information consists of:

- Recommendations of suitable extinguishing equipment, and information about extinguishing equipment that is not appropriate for a particular situation.
- Advice on special hazards that may result from fire during the fire, such as any hazardous combustion products created when the chemical burns.
- Recommendations on special protective measures for firefighters.

Section 6: Accidental Release Measures

This section provides recommendations on the appropriate response to spills, leaks, or releases from containers and releases that may result in personal or excessive exposure to people, properties, or the environment. It may also include recommendations (distinguishing between responses for large and small spills) about the spill or release (e.g., spill or release) and any other relevant information. The required information consists of recommendations for:

- Use of personal precautions (such as removal of ignition sources or preventing further release) and protective equipment to prevent the release of the chemical, and clothing.
- Emergency procedures, including instructions for evacuation, consulting experts, and other relevant information.
- Methods and materials used for containment (e.g., covering the drums and capping procedures).
- Cleaning procedures (e.g., appropriate techniques for decontamination, decontamination, cleaning or vacuuming, sufficient materials, and/or equipment required for containment (e.g., ventilation requirements)).

Section 7: Handling and Storage

This section provides guidance on the safe handling practices and conditions for safe storage of chemicals. The required information consists of:

- Precautions for handling chemicals and containers for handling chemicals, minimizing the release of the chemical into the environment, and providing advice on general hygiene practices (e.g., eating, drinking, and smoking in areas where the chemical is present).
- Recommendations on the conditions for safe storage, including any incompatibilities.
- Provide advice on specific storage requirements (e.g., ventilation requirements).

Section 8: Exposure Controls/Personal Protection

This section contains the exposure controls and personal protection measures. The required information consists of:

- Control measures (e.g., engineering controls, administrative controls, and any other exposure limit used or recommended by the chemical manufacturer, importer, or employer) for the safe use of the chemical, including any other relevant information.
- Appropriate personal protective equipment (PPE) for the chemical, including any other relevant information.
- Recommendations for personal protective measures to prevent injury or illness from exposure to chemicals, such as personal protective equipment (PPE) for the appropriate types of eye, face, skin, and respiratory protection needed based on the chemical and personal use of the chemical.
- Any other relevant information, such as PPE, including clothing or temperature (e.g., heat of glove material, such as PVC or nitrile rubber gloves), and breakthrough time of the glove.

Section 9: Physical/Chemical Properties

This section identifies physical and chemical properties associated with the chemical. The required information consists of:

- Appearance (physical state, color, etc.).
- Upper/lower flammability or explosive limits.
- Boiling point.

- Color (if any).
- Odor (if any).
- Boiling point.
- Freezing point.
- Stability (decomposition).
- Reactivity (with water, air, etc.).
- Other relevant information.

The SDS may not contain every item on the above list because information may not be relevant or is not available. When this occurs, a notation to that effect must be made for each item on the list. The notation should be "Not available" or "Not applicable".
