

6.9 Check GPS Settings

Before starting to use your R4 Combined AIS & Navigation system, it is recommended to review the settings used for your R4 Navigation Sensor. Most significantly the source of differential corrections should be checked and set to an appropriate value. For more information, please refer to the description of the GPS Config view present in the Reference chapter of your Operator's Manual.

6.10 Configuring Output Sentences

The sentences that are sent on each of the user ports are configurable on sentence level. The sentences that can be output on the User interface of the R4 Combined AIS & Navigation System are listed in section 7.6.2. Each sentence configured for output will increase the load on the port. Only turn on the sentences that you intend to use.

As a minimum, the following, or equivalent, sentences must be enabled on User Port 2 at a rate of at least 1 Hz: GBS, GGA, VTG (these sentences are by default enabled). The enabled sentences must provide the following information to the R4 AIS Transponder: Position, position quality, UTC time of position report, SOG, COG and RAIM status.

Note: User Port 2 must be connected to one of the Sensor ports of the R4 Transponder.

To configure output sentences and verify that the correct sentences are output, follow the steps described below.

1. Enter Config mode by pressing the MODE key followed by function key CONFIG.
2. Press the PAGE key, and then function key I/O Config. The I/O Configuration view is shown.
3. Press function key Output Config to display the Port Output Configuration view, as illustrated below.

4. Press the function key corresponding to the port to configure output sentences for. The view for configuring output sentences is displayed, as illustrated below.
