10. The law of conservation of mass states that the mass of a system is conserved in a closed system.
 11. This is because matter cannot be created or destroyed, only transformed.
 12. For example, if you burn a piece of wood, the mass of the wood and the oxygen that reacts with it is equal to the mass of the ash and the gases that are produced.
 13. The law of conservation of mass is a fundamental principle of physics and chemistry.
 14. It is based on the fact that the total mass of a system is constant, regardless of the processes that occur within it.
 15. This is why the law of conservation of mass is so important in understanding the behavior of matter.
 16. The law of conservation of mass is a key principle in many scientific fields, including physics, chemistry, and biology.
