Mining Heritage and

Tourism Michael Conlin, Lee Jolliffe, 2010-10-04 Many former mining areas have now lost their industrial function and are now turning to tourism for regional revitalization and community economic development The transformation process of these industrial and in some cases derelict mining sites and landscapes into an area of interest for tourists is a major challenge both for planners and for tourism managers It involves complex consideration to both the preservation of the physical site and community mining heritages as well as the health safety and environmental factors inherent in opening these vast sites to the public Mining Heritage and Tourism includes contributions from internationally recognized authorities and is the first book to focus on the issues challenges and potentials in redeveloping mines as cultural heritage attractions which are explored thematically throughout the book It draws on multidisciplinary research to consider the dichotomy between heritage preservation and tourist development goals for mining heritage sites as well as to explore the practical challenges of developing these sites These themes are illustrated by case studies from a vast range of geographical locations around the globe to offer operational insights into the planning and management of these sites for both heritage and tourism purposes as well as innovative site management techniques There has never before been a more comprehensive book on mining heritage tourism representing the latest developments in strategy policy and practices This book serves as an invaluable guide for students researchers academics and practitioners in the areas of Tourism and Heritage Management The Host Gaze in Global Tourism Omar Moufakkir, Yvette Reisinger, 2013 Most tourism theories have been developed from the tourists perspective and focus on the Anglo American experience This unique book for researchers and students of tourism is the first to look at the host gaze how it is constructed how it has developed how it varies between countries and how the tourism industry can affect it By looking at the gazes of both Western and non Western hosts this book analyses the consequences such a gaze can have upon the tourist Qualitative Methodologies in Tourism Studies Milka Ivanova, Dorina-Maria Buda, Elisa Burrai, 2022-09-05 Disruptive and creative research methodologies proposed in this book are designed to dismantle neoliberal narratives deployed in tourism studies and wider social sciences Progressing criticality in tourism studies this volume showcases cutting edge contributions ranging from reflexivity subjectivities and dreams to messy emotions in auto ethnographic accounts of fieldwork motherhood capital accessing Inuit communities collective memory work ethnodrama and creative non fiction amongst others Disruption and creativity are the two ideas around which tourism geographers challenge and begin dismantling hegemonic ideologies in tourism studies The chapters in this book provide a vantage point from where to disrupt first before tourism geographers can engender progress and transformation within and outside of the field In tourism studies in general and tourism geography in particular the years of the 2000s have witnessed an emphasis on qualitative methodological research both in terms of the topics addressed and the types of methodological tools In many ways this legitimisation of qualitative work mirrors developments in other areas such as human geography sociology and anthropology in which this book is anchored The authors debate in more depth how tourism studies offer multidimensional multilogical and multi emotional approaches to research design The chapters were originally published as a special issue of the journal Tourism Geographies COVID-19 and the Hospitality and Tourism Industry Gursoy, Dogan, Saruşik, Mehmet, Nunkoo, Robin, Boğan, Erhan, 2021-09-14 Offering a comprehensive understanding of the implications of the COVID 19 pandemic for the tourism and hospitality industry this book discusses the topic from economic sociological and psychological perspectives Critical case studies are used to explore both micro impacts on individuals involved in the industry and governmental and international responses to issues posed by the pandemic more broadly

Csikszentmihalyi,2016-10-04 Tourism affects millions of individuals numerous societies and environments in multiple nuanced and overlapping ways While it can be viewed as a frivolous leisure pursuit or simply a large industry with potentially destructive impacts it might also be understood in terms of its effects on human fulfilment the good life and greater well being This book calls for positive tourism principally grounded in theories from positive psychology the study of what makes life worth living and the development of a body of knowledge that explains what characterises optimal tourist experiences what enables host communities to flourish and what encourages workers in tourism to thrive Through original research studies reported in this international volume we aim to further develop this knowledge The intersections between ongoing and traditionally inspired applications of psychology in tourism and this new thrust in psychological inquiry promise to refresh and challenge tourism research This book will appeal to researchers and academics in tourism leisure positive psychology management and related fields as well as graduate students professionals and policy makers Film-Induced
