Light in Forensic Science Mire Zloh,Jacqueline L Stair,Giorgia Miolo,2018-04-18 The identification and quantification of material present and collected at a crime scene are critical requirements in investigative analyses Forensic analysts use a variety of tools and techniques to achieve this many of which use light Light is not always the forensic analyst s friend however as light can degrade samples and alter results This book details the analysis of a range of molecular systems by light based techniques relevant to forensic science as well as the negative effects of light in the degradation of forensic evidence such as the breakage of DNA linkages during DNA profiling The introductory chapters explain how chemiluminescence and fluorescence can be used to visualise samples and the advantages and limitations of available technologies They also discuss the limitations of our knowledge about how light could alter the physical nature of materials for example by breaking DNA linkages during DNA profiling or by modifying molecular structures of polymers and illicit drugs The book then explains how to detect analyse and interpret evidence from materials such as illicit drugs agents of bioterrorism and textiles using light based techniques from microscopy to surface enhanced Raman spectroscopy Edited by active photobiological and forensic scientists this book will be of interest to students and researchers in the fields of photochemistry photobiology toxicology and forensic science

Recalibrating teacher training in African higher education institutions Sifiso Sibanda,Gideon (Deon) P. van Tonder,Washington T. Dudu,2023-03-01 This book critically examines the role of governments in promoting parity during and in post pandemic education This comes from the realisation that the pandemic has deepened the crisis by depleting the meagre resources that African countries might have devoted to normative educational practices where those on the margins would have been pushed further behind while the privileged would have been further initiated into the cultural and capital flows of private schools and historically research intensive institutions of higher learning This has far reaching implications for the education of underprivileged citizens and education particularly modes and modalities of delivery has to be reimagined to subvert the challenges wrought by the pandemic This book significantly bridges the gap between the pre and post COVID 19 pandemic pedagogical practices and the erstwhile modalities that have been resilient over time The book focuses on ways to stave off pedagogical challenges that face countries as the global pandemic makes its mark
