Changing the Heart of Social Policy-Making Catherine E. Johnson, 2025-07-24. Effective social policy making has been debated for decades by policy makers, scholars and the general public. As elected officials have lost sight of their purpose in a climate of extreme polarization and partisan politics, disappointment and distrust of our government institutions have swelled. This book highlights the importance of a change in the hearts and minds of legislators and provides a new perspective on addressing the public's desire for more effective and humane social policies. Covering the legislative and social policy making process from a historical and contemporary perspective, this book identifies powerful interest groups and corporate dollars which influence our legislative process and erode sound policy ideas and solutions. The book also explores a new generation of youth voters which can influence election and policy outcomes, the current mental health crisis and the importance of evidence based research in designing social policies. Several topics are illuminated by real life experiences, case studies and practical guidelines.
