

Name: Gabriella Boyles.

Worksheet Value = 20 points (Each question is worth 4 points)

Directions: This semester your assigned text will focus on the concept of habits. Make some initial predictions and connections about this concept by responding to the following questions.

1. Make a list of good habits (at least 5 minimum). These don't have to be specifically your good habit, rather good habits in general.

Example: exercise

A list of good habits would brushing your teeth twice a day, sleeping on time, eating healthy foods, being positive, make your bed in the morning and have good manners.

2. Make a list of bad habits (at least 5 minimum). These don't have to be specifically your bad habit, rather good habits in general.

Example: smoking

A list of bad habits would be staying up late every day, biting fingernails, picking my hair when bored, being on social media all day and eating lots of sweets.

3. Do you think bad habits can be broken? If yes, how? If no, why? Explain. (Respond in at least 4 sentences).

Yes, bad habits can be broken by trying to change your routine to a better one by avoiding the cause of the bad habit. We can try to always change our bad routine to a new one. An example would be when I am bored, I like to pick on my hair but instead I can buy a stress ball and play around with it. It will break my old habit into a good one. At first it will be difficult, but you will eventually get used to it.
