

FEDERAL vs. PRIVATE

Student Loans

FEDERAL

VS.

PRIVATE

Payments aren't due until after you graduate, leave school, or change your enrollment status to less than half-time.

Many private student loans require payments while you are still in school, but some do allow you to defer (put off) payments while in school.

You don't need to get a credit check to qualify for federal student loans (except for PLUS loans).

Private student loans often require an established credit record or a cosigner.

The interest rate is fixed and is often lower than private loans.

Variable or fixed interest rates, which may be higher or lower than the rates on federal loans depending on your circumstances.

You may be eligible to have some portion of your loans forgiven if you work in public service.

Although many private lenders do not offer loan forgiveness programs, some student loans from state agencies can be forgiven in certain circumstances.

WARNING! If you have both federal and private student loans, be careful about refinancing with a private lender. You will lose your rights under the federal student loan program, including deferment, forbearance, forgiveness, and affordable repayment options.
