Can Journalism Be Saved? Rachel Davis Mersey, 2010-08-06 This book challenges the once dominant social responsibility model and argues that a new individual first paradigm is what will allow journalism to survive in today's crowded media marketplace By some measures it would seem that print journalism is dying Journalism recently suffered one of its worst circulation declines in years a drop of more than ten percent in the a six month period ending September 30 2009 The Rocky Mountain News in Denver CO closed its doors in 2009 after it dominated the AP awards in 2008 and was lauded for an investigative expose on unfair treatment of former nuclear workers Even the New York Times and the Washington Post are experiencing financial trouble But print advertising revenue still trumps online advertising revenue ten fold Is there hope yet for traditional journalism This book reviews the complicated challenge facing journalism tracing its 19th century community oriented origins and documenting the vast expansion of the news business via blogs and other Internet enabled outlets user generated content and news like alternatives The author argues that a radical shift in mindset striving to meet each individual's demands for what he wants to know will be necessary to save journalism Food futures: ethics, science and culture I. Anna S. Olsson, Sofia M. Araújo, M. Fátima Vieira, 2023-07-31 Food is at the centre of human existence We eat every day not only to satisfy our physical needs but also as part of cultural and social interaction Food choices and markets

shape the agricultural landscape and the cities we live in Whereas what we choose to eat and feed our family is part of who we are a growing number of actors compete to influence our food habits through marketing strategies and nutritional advice And ethical considerations are coupled with every choice over food whether related to production distribution consumption food waste policy in general marketing or advice Given the variety of implications the food problem entails the construction of an inclusive society must redirect the concerns about food in the present to the imagination of future alternatives The search for innovative solutions calls for multidisciplinary critical enquiry and utopian thinking will be instrumental in that regard This book brings together work by scholars in a wide range of disciplines addressing many different topics related to food futures Topics covered include food and literature food waste food communication food policy corporate social responsibility and public procurement in food supply responsible research and innovation in food production as well as sustainability and animal ethics and welfare

Regional Integration, Trade and Industry in Africa Helmut Asche, 2021-06-14 This book examines the past present and prospects of regional economic integration in Africa The empirical analysis ranges from unions formed during the years following independence to the proposed African Continental Free Trade Area AfCFTA which aims to remove trade barriers between all 55 African states In addition the book explores to what extent Africa s Regional Economic Communities RECs have advanced in accordance with a linear integration model of goods labor and capital markets The book subsequently evaluates the suitability of the European model of deep integration with costly institutions for the conditions specific to Africa considering for example the role of informal and non recorded trade Stylized cases of regional division of labour with increasing returns and imperfect competition are introduced to support the economic integration logic Past and current economic policies in Africa are scrutinized to answer the question how can African regions best foster new manufacturing industries and value chains across the continent In conclusion the book outlines content and processes of Common Industrial Policy in the African regions The book also addresses the controversial issue of international trade agreements between developing countries and the European Union or the USA and investigates whether these agreements impede or promote economic development in Africa The book includes a detailed roadmap describing how to improve key clauses of agreements for economic partnership in the interest of African countries In closing it outlines a new vision of joint sustainable development for Africa and Europe
