Virella,Nathan Tanner,Darin A. Thompson,2023-09-01 Popular education press and scholarly conversations have focused on the impact of COVID 19 on various aspects of school leadership during the induction process and after However voices heard directly from the students are often left out or not heard from in a comprehensive oral historical account We argue that while the attention is deservedly placed on principals and superintendents in schools leading through the pandemic crisis there has been less dialogue about the impact of COVID 19 on aspiring leaders who will take the helm amid the lingering crisis Focusing on this population is explicitly significant as COVID 19 has disrupted and traumatized aspiring leaders who will begin to leave the principalship or superintendency en masse The novelty and longevity of COVID 19 have also upended schools across the country Thus we are left at the moment when although many students are preparing to be school leaders those preparing them are not expected to stay Preparing to Lead Narratives of Aspiring School Leaders in a Post COVID World focuses on how graduate students in educational leadership preparation programs are experiencing their simultaneous preparation for leadership roles in the K 12 setting while working in schools in several districts across the United States We approach this book as a way to elevate the voices of aspiring leaders who will enter the field in the current crisis laden context Chapter authors discuss both the challenges and opportunities they have experienced due to being in the dual role of aspiring leaders and current educators Chapter authors also provide poignant feedback on how leadership preparation programs can assist their development as leaders and infuse equity oriented approaches that mirror their own identity and the educational landscape they will lead in Math Teacher's Survival Guide: Practical Strategies, Management Techniques, and Reproducibles for New and Experienced Teachers, Grades 5-12 Judith A. Muschla,Gary R. Muschla,Erin Muschla,2010-03-08 Classroom tested strategies to help new and experienced math teachers thrive Math teachers must not only instruct their students in basic mathematical skills and concepts they must also prepare them for standardized tests provide instruction in the use of technology and teach problem solving and critical thinking skills At the same time they must also manage their other responsibilities taking attendance planning grading record keeping disciplining and communicating with parents and administrators This book provides efficient and practical information on the management skills necessary to succeed in this most challenging profession Offers realistic suggestions and strategies for planning and delivering effective math instruction Helps math teachers achieve excellence and continue to be enthusiastic and successful in their teaching careers Includes reproducible forms to help math teachers stay on top of everything they need to do The Math Teacher s Survival Guide contains a wealth of useful tools and strategies that can help any math teacher succeed in the classroom
