Taylor, 2021-02-04 This book is the perfect companion for the watercolour landscape painter Richard Taylor looks at each element of the landscape in turn He moves from small details such as a quick painting of his backpack drawn in a break from walking to wide sweeping panoramas Detailed annotations point to key areas of interest for each painting showing for example how a wash has been used to create shadows in still water or how paper has been left blank to represent the tops of clouds Alongside each painting you ll find the palette of colours used with advice on combining colours for best effect Step by step demonstrations show basic watercolour techniques in action and longer projects reveal how Richard develops a fully realised painting Packed with invaluable hints and tips and illustrated with the author s inspiring watercolours this book is perfect for the beginner or more experienced watercolour painter The Palladian Landscape: Geographical Change and Its Cultural Representations in Sixteenth-Century Italy , While the themes sources and materials of The Palladian Landscape span a range of disciplinary interests from art and architectural studies economic social and environmental history to philosophy and Renaissance humanism Denis Cosgrove seeks to provide a geographical interpretation of a region of northern Italy in the specific period of the late Renaissance However he goes much further using the thoughts designs and commissions of the architect Palladio as the central thread to weave a picture of a place Venice that is in a period of crisis as it seeks to survive a transition from a maritime power hinterland to a new land based terraferma As a cultural geographer he seeks to understand how groups come to terms with and transform their material environments and he therefore pays special attention to the intellectual forces and spiritual sensibilities that empower those groups as well as to the economic social and environmental constraints with which they have to contend Although these two broad realms of human experience are often studied separately Cosgrove brings them together in this study He uses the leitmotif of architecture and specifically the work of Andrea Palladio to describe a localized transformation of the natural world into a landscape of expression of cultural meaning Beyond this leitmotif the work adopts an essay structure in which each chapter stands somewhat separately as a spatial narrative It moves from the imperial city of Venice into its Italian territories and thence from city to rural landscape to specific country estates Having described localized transformations of urban and rural landscapes Cosgrove then expands the scale again to
