Narrative Faith David Stromberg, 2017-10-18 Narrative Faith engages with the dynamics of doubt and faith to consider how literary works with complex structures explore different moral visions The study describes a literary petite histoire that problematizes faith in two ways both in the themes presented in the story and the strategies used to tell that story leading readers to doubt the narrators and their narratives Starting with Dostoevsky's Demons 1872 a literary work that has captivated and confounded critics and readers for well over a century the study examines Albert Camus's The Plague 1947 and Isaac Bashevis Singer's The Penitent 1973 83 works by twentieth century authors who similarly intensify questions of faith through narrators that generate doubt The two postwar novelists share parallel preoccupations with Dostoevsky's art and similar personal philosophies while their works constitute two literary responses to the cataclysm of the Second World War extending questions of faith into the current era The book's last section looks beyond narrative inquiry to consider themes of confession and revision that appear in all three novels and open onto horizons beyond faith and doubt to hope

Insurgent Sepoys Shaswati Mazumdar, 2012-07-26 The Revolt of 1857 in India has so far largely been viewed as an event that was of interest to British and Indian scholars investigating the various consequences of British colonial rule in India What has remained out of the focus of study during the last 150 years is the possible impact of the Revolt elsewhere its so to say international dimension what in particular was the reaction in Europe where elemental social and political transformations were underway Whatever the varied nature of the reactions the space given to the Revolt in many European newspapers and journals while it was in progress is certainly extensive What is more representations of and reflections on the Revolt appeared both during the event and for long after its suppression above all in forms of popular fiction but also in historical accounts letters reminiscences and other forms of writing The collection of essays in this volume ventures into this unexplored terrain and offers a first look at some of these European responses

The Oxford History of Literary Translation in English: Peter France, Kenneth Haynes, 2006-02-23 In the one hundred and ten years covered by volume four of The Oxford History of Literary Translation in English what characterized translation was above all the move to encompass what Goethe called world literature This occurred paradoxically at a time when English literature is often seen as increasingly self sufficient In Europe the culture of Germany was a new source of inspiration as were the medieval literatures and the popular ballads of many lands from Spain to Serbia From the mid century the other literatures of the North both ancient and modern were extensively translated and the last third of the century saw the beginning of the Russian vogue Meanwhile as the British presence in the East was consolidated translation helped readers to take possession of exotic non

European cultures from Persian and Arabic to Sanskrit and Chinese The thirty five contributors bring an enormous range of expertise to the exploration of these new developments and of the fascinating debates which reopened old questions about the translator's task as the new literalism whether scholarly or experimental vied with established modes of translation The complex story unfolds in Britain and its empire but also in the United States involving not just translators publishers and readers but also institutions such as the universities and the periodical press Nineteenth century English literature emerges as more open to the foreign than has been recognized before with far reaching effects on its orientation Art and Commerce in the British Short Story, 1880-1950 Dean Baldwin, 2015-10-06 The short story was a commercial phenomenon which took off in the late nineteenth century and lasted through to the rise of television and film Baldwin uses a wide variety of sources to show how economic factors helped to dictate how and what a wide variety of authors wrote The Short Story after Apartheid Graham K. Riach, 2023-10-15 Honourable Mention in the 2023 British Association for Contemporary Literary Studies Monograph Prize The Short Story after Apartheid offers the first major study of the anglophone short story in South Africa since apartheid's end By focusing on the short story this book complicates models of South African literature dominated by the novel and contributes to a much needed generic and formalist turn in postcolonial studies Literary texts are sites of productive struggle between formal and extra formal concerns and these brief fragmentary elliptical formally innovative stories offer perspectives that reframe or revise important concerns of post apartheid literature the aesthetics of engaged writing the politics of the past class and race the legacies of violence and the struggle over the land Through an analysis of key texts from the period by Nadine Gordimer Ivan Vladislavi Zo Wicomb Phaswane Mpe and Henrietta Rose Innes this book assesses the place of the short story in post apartheid writing and develops a fuller model of how artworks allow and disallow forms of social thought
