

Effects of the Enlightenment

Enlightenment ideas encouraged people to use observation to make new discoveries, rely on reason, and question traditional authority. The principles of the Enlightenment led many American colonists to challenge the authority of the British monarchy. When Thomas Jefferson wrote the Declaration of Independence, he drew on the ideas of John Locke. The Declaration of Independence states that all men have the right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. Many ideas in the Constitution are based on the ideas of Enlightenment thinkers.

Ideas Behind the American Revolution

In the Declaration of Independence, Thomas Jefferson drew on the writings of John Locke. Locke was a British philosopher who said that if the government became tyrannical people should resist it.

Locke's Ideas	Ideas in the Declaration of Independence
People are born with natural rights of life, liberty and property.	American colonists had unalienable rights that the king could not take away. These rights are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.
People have the right to change or abolish a government that does not protect their natural rights . People have the right to "alter or abolish" a government that threatens their unalienable rights .	People have the right to change or abolish a government that does not protect their natural rights. People have the right to "alter or abolish" a government that threatens their unalienable rights .

Describe the Enlightenment and the rise of democratic ideas as the context in which the nation was founded. Include 1 philosopher.
