Kastning,2013-11-11 Integer Programming is one of the most fascinating and difficult areas in the field of Mathematical Optimization Due to this fact notable research contributions to Integer Programming have been made in very different branches of mathematics and its applications Since these publications are scattered over many journals proceedings volumes monographs and working papers a comprehensive bibliography of all these sources is a helpful tool even for specialists in this field I initiated this compilation of literature in 1970 at the Institut für Konometrie und Operations Research University of Bonn Since then many collaborators have contributed to and worked on it Among them Dipl Math Claus Kastning has done the bulk of the work With great perseverance and diligence he has gathered all the material and checked it with the original sources The main aim was to incorporate rare and not easily accessible sources like Russian journals preprints or unpublished papers Without the invaluable and dedicated engagement of Claus Kastning the bibliography would never have reached this final version For this reason he must be considered its responsible editor As with any other collection this literature list has a subjective viewpoint and may be in some sense incomplete We have however tried to be as complete as possible The bibliography contains 4704 different publications by 6767 authors which were classified by 11839 descriptor entries The Prentice-Hall Federal Tax Service ,1926 Catalog of Copyright Entries. Digital Spectral Analysis S. Lawrence Marple, Jr.,2019-03-20 Digital Spectral Analysis offers a broad perspective of spectral estimation techniques and their implementation Coverage includes spectral estimation of discrete time or discrete space sequences derived by sampling continuous time or continuous space signals The treatment emphasizes the behavior of each spectral estimator for short data records and provides over 40 techniques described and available as implemented MATLAB functions In addition to summarizing classical spectral estimation this text provides theoretical background and review material in linear systems Fourier transforms matrix algebra random processes and statistics Topics include Prony's method parametric methods the minimum variance method eigenanalysis based estimators multichannel methods and two dimensional methods Suitable for advanced undergraduates and graduate students of electrical engineering and for scientific use in the signal processing application community outside of universities the treatment's prerequisites include some knowledge of discrete time linear system and transform theory introductory probability and statistics and linear algebra 1987 edition The Publishers Weekly ,1886

The Regularized Fast Hartley Transform Keith Jones,2010-03-10 Most real world spectrum analysis problems involve the computation of the real data discrete Fourier transform DFT a unitary transform that maps elements N of the linear space of real valued N tuples R to elements of its complex valued N counterpart C and when carried out in hardware it is conventionally achieved via a real from complex strategy using a complex data version of the fast Fourier transform FFT the generic name given to the class of fast algorithms used for the efficient computation of the DFT Such algorithms are typically derived by exploiting the property of symmetry whether it exists just in the transform kernel or in certain circumstances in the input data and or output data as well In order to make effective use of a complex data FFT however via the chosen real from complex N strategy the input data to the DFT must first be converted from elements of R to N elements of C The reason for choosing the computational domain of real data problems such as $N \times N$ as this to be C rather than R is due in part to the fact that computing equipment manufacturers have invested so heavily in producing digital signal processing DSP devices built around the design of the complex data fast multiplier and accumulator MAC an arithmetic unit ideally suited to the implementation of the complex data radix 2 butterfly the computational unit used by the familiar class of recursive radix 2 FFT algorithms
