Becoming Literate in the City Robert Serpell, Linda Baker, Susan Sonnenschein, 2005-01-10 Literacy is one of the most highly valued cultural resources of contemporary American society yet far too many children in the nation's cities leave school without becoming sufficiently literate This book reports the results of a five year longitudinal study in the city of Baltimore Maryland tracing literacy development from pre kindergarten through third grade for a sample of children from low and middle income families of European and African heritage The authors examined the intimate culture of each child's home defined by a confluence of parental beliefs recurrent activities and interactive processes in relation to children's literacy competencies Also examined were teacher beliefs and practices and connections between home and school With its broad based consideration of the contexts of early literacy development the book makes an important contribution to understanding how best to facilitate attainment of literacy for children from diverse backgrounds

Elvis After Elvis Gilbert B. Rodman, 2013-10-18 For a dead man Elvis Presley is awfully noisy His body may have failed him in 1977 but today his spirit his image and his myths do more than live on they flourish they thrive they multiply Why is Elvis Presley so ubiquitous a presence in US culture Why does he continue to enjoy a cultural prominence that would be the envy of the most heavily publicized living celebrities In Elvis after Elvis Gil Rodman traces the myriad manifestations of The King in popular and not so popular culture He asks why Elvis continues to defy our expectations of how dead stars are supposed to behave Elvis not only refuses to go away he keeps showing up in places where he seemingly doesn't belong Rodman draws upon an extensive and eclectic body of Elvis sightings from Elvis's appearances at the heart of the 1992 Presidential campaign to the debate over his worthiness as a subject for a postage stamp and from Elvis's central role in furious debates about racism and the appropriation of African American music to the world of Elvis impersonators and the importance of Graceland as a place of pilgrimage for Elvis fans and followers Rodman shows how Elvis has become inseparable from many of the defining myths of US culture enmeshed with the American dream and the very idea of the United States caught up in debates about race gender and sexuality and in the wars over what constitutes a national culture

Fundamentals of Comparative and Intercultural Philosophy Lin Ma, Jaap van Brakel, 2016-03-25 Discusses the conditions of possibility for intercultural and comparative philosophy and for crosscultural communication at large This innovative book explores the preconditions necessary for intercultural and comparative philosophy Philosophical practices that involve at least two different traditions with no common heritage and whose languages have very different grammatical structure such as Indo Germanic languages and classical Chinese are a particular focus Lin Ma and Jaap van Brakel look at the necessary and not so necessary conditions of possibility of interpretation comparison and other forms of interaction and how we can speak of similarities and differences in this context The authors posit that it is necessary to dissolve the question of universalism versus relativism by replacing the ideal language paradigm with a paradigm of family resemblances and that it is not necessary to share a common language to engage in comparison Numerous case studies are presented including many comparisons of Western and Chinese concepts
