Academic Writing, second edition Janet Giltrow, Rick Gooding, Daniel

Burgoyne, Marlene Sawatsky, 2009-08-30 Janet Giltrow's Academic Writing Writing and Reading in the Disciplines has been widely acclaimed in all its editions as a superb textbook and an important contribution to the pedagogy of introducing university and college students to the conventions of writing in an academic milieu. Giltrow draws meaningfully on theory especially genre theory while using specific texts to keep the discussion grounded in the particular. Exercises throughout help students to interpret, summarize, analyze, and compare examples of academic and scholarly writing. The book is intended to demystify scholarly genres, shedding light on their discursive conventions and on academic readers' expectations and values. Academic Writing: An Introduction is a concise version of the full work designed to be more compact and accessible for use in one-term writing courses. This new edition has been revised throughout and contains many new exercises, updated examples, an expanded discussion of research writing in the sciences, new glossary entries, and a new section on research ethics and the moral compass of the disciplines.

The Research Virtuoso Toronto Public Library, 2012-03-01 Armed with this lively guidebook, students will be ready to face the often daunting prospect of conducting serious research in the information age. Fully revised, The Research Virtuoso covers all aspects of research: how to decide on a topic, take notes, skim material, evaluate which sources especially those on the Internet are most reliable, organize information, and create a bibliography. Readers will also learn how to access a treasure trove of sources they may never have known existed, such as special collections and private libraries. The Research Virtuoso goes on to show how effective research skills will help students succeed not only at school but also in life when considering a company to work for or purchasing anything from electronics to a house. Charts, lists, diagrams, and Grab Go templates clarify and expand the text. An essential tool for every student.

Perspectives on the Introductory Phase of Empirical Research Articles (Kathy) Ling Lin, 2019-10-22 Combining English for Specific Purposes (ESP), genre-based analysis, corpus-based language studies, and semi-structured interviews, this book represents the first multi-faceted project on the macro structure of empirical research articles (ERAs) from both synchronic and diachronic perspectives and on the I-L-R patterned introductory phase comprising two introductory sections: i.e. the Introduction and the Literature Review in RAs drawn from civil engineering and applied linguistics journals regarding their rhetorical organization, use of citation, and structural and functional links and variations. The project comprises three logically interconnected studies using a multi-perspective, the cross-disciplinary, cross-generic, emic and published advice vs. actual expert practices perspectives approach. It will make a significant contribution to our understanding of the genre, evolution, rhetorical organization, and citation features of ERAs, enrich English for Academic Purposes (EAP) theories, and facilitate the development of EAP pedagogy and materials.
