Leslie A. Baxter, 2010-01-19 One of the field's most respected scholars advances a dialogic perspective on communication in personal and familial relationships presenting the next iteration of relational dialectics theory RDT This is an excellent book and moves one of the major theories in the social sciences forward in very innovative ways Indeed this book extends beyond RDT by addressing limitations in the family interpersonal and personal relationships literature I believe this book will prompt many discussions among theorists and researchers in those areas and has the potential to provide exciting new directions in the study of relationships Glen H Stamp Ball State University Leslie A Baxter is offering up something here that is desperately needed and fills a big hole for those who adopt RDT as their theoretical framework I found the conceptual content of the book to be clear compelling and provoking The chapter on contrapuntal analysis is the only one of its kind Melissa Wood Alem n James Madison University Voicing Relationships presents a dialogic perspective on relating inspired by the dialogism work of the Russian theorist of literature and culture Mikhail Bakhtin Written by Leslie A Baxter one of the theory's originators this groundbreaking book presents the next iteration of the theory along with a methodological primer for contrapuntal analysis that includes guiding readers through a sample analysis Developing a rich palette of dialogic concepts useful in the study of interpersonal communication the book's central argument is that meaning making emerges from the clash of competing systems of meaning or discourses Relationship communication is embedded in culture history difference and conceptions of the ideal In addition the book gives us a method by which to study communication dialogically contrapuntal analysis Key Features Centers communication at the heart of relationships with an interdisciplinary focus on communication from fields such as psychology social work and sociology Offers an up to date distillation of two decades of relevant research to organize major findings and issues Moves scholars and students beyond simplistic uses of relational dialectics or using the dialectical pairs in overly simplistic cookie cutter ways Provides scholars and students with guidance in using RDT to guide their own research Intended Audience Voicing Relationships is ideal for use in a wide range of courses such as Interpersonal Communication Family Studies Couples Marriage and Family and Counseling Parents and Children Communicating with Society Thomas J. Socha, Glen Stamp, 2010-03-17 The volume opens a new frontier in parent child communication research as it brings together veteran researchers and newcomers to explore the communication of parents and children as they create relationships outside the family The chapters herein examine communication processes and problems of parents and children as they interact with childcare healthcare education and youth sports investigate the unique challenges facing various types of families as they communicate outside the family e g stepfamilies and gay lesbian bisexual families and consider the role of media in family relationships outside of home The primary audiences for the volume includes scholars researchers and graduate students studying communication in families children's communication communication in personal relationships organizational communication group communication and health communication It will also be of interest to psychologists who study families children and organizations sociologists who study families children and organizations education researchers teachers coaches family physicians and family therapists graduate students It has the potential for use in courses in family communication family studies family sociology and child development Family Estrangement Kylie Agllias,2016-10-04 Family estrangement is larger than conflict and more complicated than betrayal It is entwined in contradictory beliefs values behaviours and goals and is the result of at least one member of the family considering reconciliation impossible and or undesirable The cessation of familial relations whether that involves rejection or deciding to leave can be an inordinately traumatising experience Whilst data suggests that around 1 in 12 people are estranged from at least one family member this topic is rarely discussed or researched Based on the author s in depth research and exploration of the topic of estrangement Family Estrangement A Matter of Perspective captures the unique lived experiences of both estrangee and estranger Offering multiple perspectives drawn from academic and popular literature as well as case studies the book contextualises its chapters within current theoretical understandings of family relationships and estrangement including Loss and Grief theories Attachment Theory and Bowen Family Systems Theory Practice sections provide estranged readers and professionals with a structured approach to exploring the various aspects of estrangement within a family and to help them identify resilience strengths and strategies which individuals may harness as they attempt to live with estrangement Written with the aim to provide guidance in understanding estrangement in context this book is suitable for estranged family members and all professionals who encounter and work with people affected by estrangement including social workers counsellors psychologists allied health professionals doctors nurses and legal professions The SAGE Handbook of Interpersonal Communication Mark L. Knapp,John A. Daly,2011-08-26 The revised Fourth Edition of The SAGE Handbook of Interpersonal Communication delivers a clear comprehensive and exciting overview of the field of interpersonal communication It offers graduate students and faculty an important state of the art reference work in which well known experts summarize theory and current research The editors also explore key issues in the field including personal relationships computer mediated communication language personality skills nonverbal communication and communication across a person s life span This updated handbook covers a wide range of established and emerging topics including Biological and Physiological Processes Qualitative and Quantitative Methods for Studying Interpersonal Communication Interpersonal Communication in Work Family Intercultural and Health Contexts Supportive and Divisive Transactions Social Networks Editors Mark L Knapp and John A Daly have significantly contributed to the field of interpersonal communication with this important reference work a must have for students and scholars Ritual, Family and Therapy in Anglophone Literatures Lars Heiler,2025-03-10 This book investigates the triadic constellations between ritual family and therapy in literature in English Many rituals so called rites of passage in particular are strongly associated with the changing status of individuals as members of a family unit Traditional healing rituals were often designed to have a therapeutic effect sometimes mentally but also physically whereas modern psychotherapies often include ritual elements in order to enhance the efficacy of their treatment Families on the other hand can be the site of therapeutic activity by providing protection stability and emotional comfort yet difficult family constellations may also be the origin of emotional distress and the reason why a person needs counselling and therapeutic support in the first place Modern therapies such as family systems therapy have expanded their range of interest and influence in order to look at the whole family unit not just the symptomatic individual as client This study discusses nine literary texts six novels one literary memoir and two plays in which the three dimensions intersect and mutually influence each other
